Dear Raya,

Please send in all the permissions with the rest of the material you will be submitting.

Incidentally, my vacation starts on Labor Day and I'll be gone for three weeks right up till Tuesday, September 26th. It will be a long-desired visit to Italy: Rome, Florence, Venice, with short excursions to Siena, Assisi, Ravenna, Padua, etc.

I received a revised order from Olga Domanski in which she asked for 1,000 copies of the paperback edition and 500 of the Delacorte Press edition -- if we do it in hardcover. I've already replied to her, submitting the respective discounts for each of the two editions. Too, the poster she has drawn up gives me an idea for a possible subtitle for the book. I offer you two variants: "From Hegel through Marx to Sartre" or "From Hegel to Marx to Sartre". Does either one strike a responsive chord?

By all means, bring in those "action photos" when next we meet. We'll see what use we can make of them.

Warmly,

Rich
