

Long Live the First of May!

May 1st is a day of international solidarity with the struggles of the peoples of the world against imperialism.

Recent victories of the People's Liberation Army in Cambodia, the National Liberation Front in Vietnam, and the anti-fascist revolution in Portugal represent the growing strength of the anti-imperialist struggles on a world scale. The U. S. is in the midst of a growing economic and political crisis which capitalism is unable to resolve. Both workers and students will bear the cost of this crisis. The struggle against imperialism abroad and against capitalism at home cannot be separated. May Day is symbolic of this unity, as is the hammer and sickle which represents the unity of the workers and students in imperialist countries, and the workers and peasants in the Third World.

It is in the interests of students to join this struggle.
