

THE DAILY WORKER GETS

AS WE SEE IT By T. J. O'FLAHERTY.

VICTOR BERGER cannot be terrorized by one of his recent castigations. He has recently borrowed a column full of comment on prohibition from that admirer of luxury, Mr. Menckes's fulsome praise was the Menckes's fulsome praise was the once popular saloon. Berger and the specious must be as steady as the outlawed, the far from dead institution.

THE socialist, Berger, far from being dismayed by his own castigations to reply to the cheap program the remainder of Menckes's column in his column it saved him a lot of trouble and worry by attributing the alleged progressivism of Milwaukee, St. Louis, Toledo, Cleveland and other cities where the old German saloon flourished to such cities as Philadelphia and Boston were blue noses and more characteristic than red noses.

THE London Daily Herald regrets that secret discipline is again in the saddle in Britain since the Tories kicked the labor out of office. What the laborites were concerned most about was "democracy" not the emancipation of the workers. If they had been revolutionaries they would have done what the Russian Communists did when they took over the Kerensky government, they would have opened up the archives and told the world the secrets contained therein. The Menckes government did nothing of the kind. It was as much concerned as any of the ruling classes with the interests of its predecessors. Now it is out in the cold, whining like a hungry whelp.

J. H. Thomas, former colonial minister and leading British labor leader, in a recent speech in the House of Commons was no class war in the army. But a soldier writing in the Daily Herald has some words with him. The soldier declares that officers were known to have nine course dinners in the trenches, while the rank and file were fighting the rank and file, were lucky to get a tin of stinking porridge between them. And continue the soldier, "I have seen lads limited to one water-bottle of water for a day and they had to drop in a vase, in a tin lid to share with, too, and could not have a drop of tea, while officers could get a hot water bottle any time they liked." This was democracy in the war for democracy.

THE Chicago Journal admits that unemployment is one of the biggest single drains on industry and that the cause of more hardship than any other single factor, but it seems to be blissfully ignorant of the causes of the plague. "There is something wrong when a man wishes to work but cannot find it in a country where the world would be glad to use the product of his labor," declares the Journal. "A cure for this 'wrong' that they are rewarded for their pains by the Journal and other capitalist institutions with jail."

THERE will be unemployment until the means of wealth production owned by a few are owned by the workers who now create them and until wealth is produced for use and not for profit so long as wealth producing machinery is controlled by those who do not own it. It is inadvisable that the owners will allow that machinery to be operated only when it is profitable to them. They must have some other means of production, without those the laborer perfectly willing to work. Temporary remedies will solve unemployment until the time when the workers army grows to large proportions, but these makeshifts do not remove the cause. Only the overthrow of capitalism can do that.

THREE MINERS KILLED IN BLAST AS TENNESSEE STARTS OFF THE NEW YEAR WITH FIRST MINE DISASTER

(Special to the DAILY WORKER)
VASPER, Tenn., Jan. 2.—Three miners were killed and three others, the result of a gas explosion at the Harper Coal Company's mine here today. The dead: Clayton Miller, 20; Tom Sims, 42; and Charles Woods, 55. The mine had been idle for several days and gas apparently had accumulated. It is thought a spark from the telephone battery started the explosion.

LABOR LURED TO MINES BY LURID LIES OF SHARKS

Eastern Ky. Operators Fool Workers

By ALONZO WALTERS.
(Special to the Daily Worker)

BLAKEY, Ky., Jan. 2.—Most of the miners working in the seven coal camps surrounding this town were lured to the Eastern Kentucky coal fields by labor agents and employment sharks in Alabama, Tennessee and other southern states, who said that miners were being paid 80 cents a ton for mining coal.

As a matter of fact the Rockhouse Co. (the Elk Creek Co., Utah Co., Malson Co., John P. Gorman and Bertha Coal companies pay 45 cents per ton for digging and loading coal with an average height of 49 inches from which strict inches of "jack rock" must be removed without extra pay.

Rope Them In With Lies. Many of the men are lured to work in the coal field by the delirious lies, exaggerations and misrepresentations of southern labor sharks. One of the three labor sharks told their victims in the eastern Ky. is solidly organized. A coal dealer in Chattanooga, Tennessee is excusing himself for selling exorbitant prices for coal by telling his customers that the miners in eastern Ky. are paid $1.50 to $2.00 per ton for digging coal.

One miner here told me he worked eleven days for the Bertha Coal Co. and his total earnings for the eleven days were only $2.00. One of the men had to pay for the cost of his powder, fuse, shooting pipe, and assessments for doctor and "backsmoothing" upkeep. The coal operators routinely guard the miners and prevent agitation which would lead to a higher standard of living. The mine superintendent of the Rockhouse Coal Co. did not want out of the coal camps who were distributing leaflets for a political candidate to whom the operators were opposed.

Wages Miserably Low. The day rate of the coal mines is from $2.00 to $4.50 per day. The wages of other laborers in the same mine level. Construction laborers working on the new state highway are paid 25 cents per hour. Laborers working on the water line of Blakely are paid $2.00 per day. Laborers working in the laundries for $1.50 per day.

Blakely is a little mining town of 1,000 people, 10 miles from Hazard, the center of the field. The coal miners in every camp I have visited are strongly in favor of organization, but the United Mine Workers of America turn a deaf ear to all their pleas.

REPARATIONS NOW WANTED BY AMERICA; CONTESTED BY ENGLAND

(Special to the Daily Worker)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Great Britain's reply to the United States concerning the right of the government to demand reparations for damages suffered from Germany under the Dawes plan, was received at the state department today. It was in reply to a note recently sent by Secretary Hughes, claiming that the higher aggregate share to share in the payments in satisfaction of American claims against Germany.

While the British reply was not made public it was understood to be conciliatory in tone.

LET US DO UNTO FRANCE AS WE ALL DO UNTO GERMANY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 2.—Considerable interest attached here to the suggestion of Finance Minister Clémenceau, France that the "Dawes plan" be applied to France's debts. It is, they are figured on a basis of France's ability to pay. Some administration officials take the view that France is entirely able to pay her debt if she would balance her budget, apply economy in government rigidly and cease spending huge sums on military and naval armaments. And they countered the "Dawes plan" suggestion today with sarcastic inquiries as to whether France would be willing to have an international control commission sent into France and do these things, as the control commission under the Dawes plan is now supervising Germany's railroads and public utilities.

The French and other war debts are being discussed for further discussion in the senate when it reconvenes after the holiday.

U. S. FINANCIAL POWER HOPEFUL OF WORLD RULE

France and Britain Being Conquered

(Special to the Daily Worker)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—While administration officials choose to draw an atmosphere of secrecy around the "conversations" and understandings now going on in London, Paris and Washington about the foreign debt problem, there is no official quarters here today more optimism that out of this activity American financial power will emerge victorious over European imperialism.

One-Half of One Per Cent

The terms reported to have been suggested by Chairman Clémenceau, French Finance minister, are a 10-year moratorium on the French debt of $11,000,000,000 with an interest rate of one per cent, and all payments to be made within 50 years. It did not strike a very responsive chord among officials here, but the opinion was expressed that if their least effort would be made within 50 years, it would be a very responsive chord among officials here, but the opinion was expressed that if their least effort would be made within 50 years, it would be a very responsive chord among officials here.

"Me Too," Says John Bull.

It is known, too, that Great Britain favors a three-armed agreement, for the benefit of France, paying the United States first has aroused the British taxpayer to an extent that has made the British government extremely desirous of obtaining some sort of immediate settlement. Whether the United States will consent to a triple-headed discussion of the French debt remains for the time being problematical. Officials here are naturally reticent on the subject of this phase of the matter.

Scientists Tell of Damages Wrought by Tornadoes in 8 Years

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Tornadoes did more than $67,000,000 worth of property damage in the United States over the eight year period from 1916 to 1924 and resulted in the loss of 1,922 lives, Herbert C. Huerter, of the United States weather bureau, told the American association for the advancement of science here today. Arkman, Dr. Hunter said, was the most frequent sufferer from tornadoes in the states of Mississippi, however, paid a greater toll in lives lost with 287 white people and the highest aggregate property loss of $1,500,000. The most tornado during the period was the excess of 100 fires swept over Indiana and Illinois.

Die Stealing High. Sealed in a fruit jar, the bodies of two youths, aged 18, were found in a trunk in the car of a truck driver from Virginia. A man from a coke heater in the car are believed to have caused the death.

LIBERAL TELL BOSSES HOW TO SWEAT WORKERS

Economists Show Their Color at Convention

The convention of college professors, belonging to the American Economic Association, the American Statistical Association, the American Farm Economic Association, and the American Association for Labor Legislation, has adjourned after listening to some two hundred speeches by financial, labor, agricultural, and statistical "experts."

The professors, including a sprinkling of former members of the socialist party and followers of the LaFollette third party movement, discussed such subjects as how to get the most work out of the laborers at the least cost, how to prevent strikes, and how the employers can increase profits and reduce wages.

Class Collaboration in Action.

The pack of trustees well represented in the convention, as were other powerful financial interests. C. F. Cassman, the president of the Commercial National Bank, was in charge of the publicity of the convention. J. H. Wild, vice president and chairman of the committee on arrangements The City Club, the Garden Club and the Women's City Club cooperated in the handling of the convention, and J. F. Bowman represented the association of commerce. Victor A. Glaser, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor, rubbed shoulders with the directors of large corporations, speaking before the American Association for Labor Legislation, which prevents all labor legislation possibly can on the subject. "Obstacles to Protective Labor Legislation," Ernest G. Draper, treasurer of Hills Brothers Co., was chairman of the session at which Glaser spoke.

Seven Employers' Interest 100 Per Cent.

Liberal, socialists and former socialists, LaFollette followers, and large employers formed a united front at this conference. Bourgeois and petty bourgeois intellectuals which discussed the "problems of labor" only as they related to the interests of the employers and owners. Paul T. Cherington, of the Walter Thompson advertising agency, and John R. Spink, an advertising man, were the main session Howard Woolston, candidate for the House of Representatives, a member of the socialist party, discussed "The Limit of American Population."

Glaser, Florence Kelley, the former socialist, now in respectable company, and Elizabeth Christian, secretary of the Women's Trade Union League, spoke side by side with Thomas I. Parkinson, listed as "first official draughtman of the U. S. Senate," and Columbia professor, Warren H. Wilson, of the Presbyterian board of home missions, Bureau of Educational Publicity specialist of Chicago, and N. Carter, at present on Coolidge's advisory commission which is telling the farmers that they are laboring, joined with A. A. Goldenwasser, of the socialist party, in discussing how to get the most work out of the laborer. The speakers and culture can be taught in the colleges so as to best praise the employer and to condemn the laborer.

Piece Work Sweats Worker Better.

An example of the gush that is being put into the piece work is the speech of Elliot Duhan Smith of the Duhan Manufacturing Co. Smith admitted that piece work is a double-edged sword. It can be used to get the maximum production out of employees, and that "profit sharing" and "employee representation" are thrown to employees as a sop to secure "increasing richness of voluntary effort" in addition to the "forced richness of our workers," in a speech before the American Economic Association.

INTERNATIONAL WORKERS' AID BAZAAR IN N. Y.

We Must Get Behind Our Communist Fighters!

(Special to The Daily Worker) NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The state supreme court of Michigan has sustained the verdict against Charles E. Ruthenberg, secretary of the Workers' Communist Party, who was convicted for his principles, but for attending a convention of the former Communist Party, which has been dissolved.

Comrade Ruthenberg's case will be appealed to the United States supreme court. Our comrades are in danger of losing the right to free speech, the Russian revolutionary work paper, stands before the capitalist courts charged with "incitement to violence."

Thirty-two other revolutionaries in this country have been indicted for attending the same convention as Comrade Ruthenberg. Deportation hearings have been held on a large number of revolutionary workers who have valiantly fought in the class struggle of this country.

Handreds of thousands of revolutionary workers and peasants are imprisoned in the capitalist dungeons of Europe and Asia. Their families are being persecuted in their homes and destruction.

The story of every revolutionist and sympathizer with the revolutionary movement is clear. IHELP must be organized for these fighters. Funds must be raised without delay.

LABOR DEFENSE BAZAAR THE INTERNATIONAL WORKERS' AID and the LABOR DEFENSE COUNCIL have arranged a joint bazaar to raise funds for the defense of the workers.

The bazaar will take place on February 11 to 14 at the Ivesman, 8th St. and 3rd Ave. It will feature folk dances and orchestras, singing societies, refreshments and a variety of other attractions.

Don't forget the date and place. You must attend and bring your friends along.

(Special to The Daily Worker) BRITAIN has no intention of encroaching on the United States in the matter of the state supreme court of Michigan.

It was added that such an offer undoubtedly would be "offensive to the United States."

Thanks Daily Worker for Assistance

The distress among the miners of southern Illinois as a result of unemployment is graphically told in the following letter received by Comrade L. A. Hanson, secretary of the DAILY WORKER, from Rose White, president of Local Union No. 2100, Decatur, Ill.

"Dear Comrade, I am in receipt of your issue of the 23rd in which you state that you are without funds for a week."

"The greatest need we find now here is clothing for the children. I have written regarding this our greatest trouble is to keep our children supplied with shoes and stockings, and I have managed pretty well for the children by the help of your paper."

Another Year Must See Progress Toward Real "Peace in Industry" Here

By J. LOUIS ENDAHL.

TODAY, the kept press gives space and prominence to the views of the banker head of the department of labor at Washington, James J. Davis, of Pittsburgh, or the outlook for the American economy.

Davis says: "We approach the new year with confidence and gratitude." Which is true! The election of the two strikebreakers, Coolidge and Dawes, keeps the capitalist state tight.

Davis says: "The American worker has been steadily employed at good wages." Which, of course, is a lie. The past year has seen, and the coming year will see a great loss of jobs.

Davis says: "The conciliation service of the department of labor is being used more and more toward the prevention of strikes and lock-outs." Which is true! But this service is always used on the side of the employing interests.

Davis says: "The immigration policy of the country is being placed on a new basis." Which is also very true from the employer's standpoint. Workers are being selected in other countries, who will best serve the interests of the American open shoppers.

Davis says: "We should also try in the coming year to make industry safe dangerous to the life and limb of the workers." Which is ghastly humor! The new year starts with the first fatal mine blast in the non-union coal field of Tennessee.

ALBERT THOMAS MET WITH SCORN IN JUGO-SLAVIA

Greeted With: "To Hell With Traitors"

By M. ROHAN. (Special to The Daily Worker). AGRAN, Jug-Slavia, Jan. 2.—Albert Thomas, head of the labor department of the capitalist league of nations, was here visiting his friends and contacts of the second (socialist) international. Everywhere he was greeted with coldness and contempt by the rank and file workers.

When Mr. Thomas stopped at the front of the syndicalist building on the 25 Julius, there was no parade for him. There was no reception committee to meet him, excepting for a handful of few labor leaders of the Jugoslav workers. When he walked out from his automobile he was dazed or he might have been the victim of workers when they resounded: "Down with the social traitors! Down with the traitors! To hell with capitalists! To hell with Mr. Thomas and the American Imperialist League of Nations Live Moscow! Long live the Third International!"

"The American Broom Is at an End..."

Says Prof. E. Varza in his "The Decline of Capitalism," a pamphlet just received from Europe. Also: "Will not the militarist-imperialist policy of Palmer gain an actual reprieve, which fact would lead to a new catastrophe of the mark, since Roosevelt, an actual reprieve, would in any means be able to withstand such a blow as most times pamphlet."

KENTUCKY COAL MINERS GET THREE WAGE CUTS IN YEAR, BUT BOSSES RAISE FOOD PRICES AND RENTS

Editor's Note.—The following is another article on the working conditions that prevail in the coal-mining industry in Kentucky. Alonso Walters, a native of this region, is now touring the coal fields and will send the DAILY WORKER exclusive reports on conditions now in existence. In a previous article the DAILY WORKER told Alonso Walters, now president of the American Federation of Labor, ignored appeals of these miners for an organizational drive, when Green was acting as secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers.

HAZARD, Ky. Jan. 2.—The coal miners in this field have received three wage cuts in the past year, altho the prices for goods which the man are forced to purchase in the company stores have remained the same, and have increased for some articles of food and clothing.

HAZARD, Kentucky, is the center of what is known as the Hazard coal field—one of the richest undeveloped coal fields in the world. It includes all the mountainous country lying along the banks of the north and middle forks of the Kentucky river. The field is in the infancy of its development. The first railroad, a branch line of the Louisville and Nashville, was built in this region in 1912. Coal mining is the only industry of importance and thousands of men are employed absolutely at the mercy of the men who own the mines.

The coal operators are in a position to force the miners to buy at their own price as well as the prices of the necessities of life which they are forced to buy at the price of the company stores. The miners are also forced to live in company houses and to pay for the coal company frequently raise the rent.

The coal operators like all the conditions which the miners work and whenever a miner complains about this condition he is marked as a trouble maker and is frequently listed through the entire field. The wages are so low that none of the families are able to leave the coal fields. Most of them, therefore, are content with forcing the wages of their masters.

The coal camps which Walters visits the coal fields of the Hazard field is that which compels the men to do "pillar work." This work is done in the coal mines and is a very dangerous and takes numerous lives every year. The miners must, for the same wages as ordinary work, do this pillar work. This work has been dug out of the "mine entry." The hill often falls in behind the pillar diggers, after these pillars have been removed.

In addition to digging and loading the coal the miner has to dig up 12 inches of "hog rock" and much over-piled waste, for which the company pays absolutely no compensation. Very often the safe falls on the road miner and kills him before he has had time to remove it.

Out of the miner's wages mentioned above, the miner must pay from his salary every month, numerous charges and "rents" imposed upon the company. This miner must pay 50 cents every month for blacksmithing charges, 85 cents per month for the doctor bill, 125 cents per keg for blasting powder, 85 cents per keg for fuses, ten cents per pound for carbide and ten cents for a paper of cartridges.

The officials of the company further hoard hundreds of dollars from the miners' pay roll by the use of inaccurate scales in weighing up the coal mined.

VAN LEAR WAR ON COMMUNISTS

The Latter Win Election Against Fakers

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 2.—The bitter fight waged against the Communist Party of the United States by the latter's ally, Van Lear, in the election for officers of the International Brotherhood of Bricklayers, which took place in Minneapolis, Minn., on Jan. 2, 1935, is a case of the latter's victory over the former's defeat.

The campaign of the fakers and their propretites was a total fiasco. The latter's victory was a complete one, which deep blinding Robly D. Cramer, who is now licking the boots of the labor union, getting stepped on by both sides, joined with Van Lear's paper in denouncing the Communist Party. WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The resolution of the economic and political science section of the American association for the advancement of science, adopted at its annual meeting in New York City, Jan. 2, 1935, was approved by the general council of the association today.

The changes proposed in the resolution would create 13 months of 28 days each, making the first of each month a 28-day month. The last day of each year would be known as "year's end" and would add to the last week as an eighth day.

CO-OPERATIVE GROCERIES BETTER FIGHT

(Special to The Daily Worker). WASHINGTON.—Whether the neighborhood grocers who are now organizing their own purchasing co-operatives to compete with the wholesale departments of the chain grocery stores will be able to survive the present economic conditions is a question that is being asked by many.

In a recent decision on wholesale purchase contracts formed by the chain stores, the commission held that it can't protect the co-operative because of the fact that the chain stores are getting as low a price as the factory prices to the chain stores.

"THE MEN WHO OWN AMERICA," FORUM LECTURE

Leland Olds to Speak on Sunday Evening

An old saying has it that "If who plays the major parts of the world it is even more true to say that those who own America control it. This being the case, it would be interesting, wouldn't it, to know who owns America?" That ownership and control must together become self-evident to anyone who gives the subject a moment's thought. But who are they who own America? Is it that mythical entity called the public? Is it Rockefeller? The Wall Street financial kings? And how much do they own of America?

Omaha, Nebr.

The age of monopoly has played havoc with our government. It might be thought that if those who own America control America, then those who are not in control 45 per cent, let us say, of all property in America have only 45 per cent of the social control, the power to order the machinery of government according to their will. But the power of monopoly is greater than its proportion of ownership—much as that is. It is a very interesting subject, and if you want to hear it explained, it will be by one who knows what he is talking about, come to the open forum of the Workers Party at the lodge room of the Ashland Auditorium next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Leland Olds, economic expert of the Ford created Press will speak on "The Men Who Own America."

Child Labor and Communism

A new plot of the Communists has been unearthed and every organ of reaction in the nation is clamoring for the defeat of the child labor amendment. The Communists are the staunchest fighters in the struggle to free the child slaves, ergo, it is a Communist plot to break up the home by depriving parents of the power to exploit the labor of their children or to sell their labor power to more efficient exploiters.

The Insurance Executive, a publication devoted to the interests of the insurance companies, in recent issue, publishes the following editorial comment: If the United States is to be made a Communist republic this twentieth amendment is a forward step toward it. Government as father and mother to children instead of their natural parents would be exchanging bonds of human love for political slavery.

Let the government keep out of the family as well as out of business. When a people are not capable of caring for themselves are not deserving of existence. No Communism!

The above editorial is proof that in certain instances the interests of a capitalist class as a whole triumph over the interests of the individual. The prevention of child labor would redound to the profit of insurance companies by lessening the risks of life as well as property, but the desire for financial exploitation by the whole capitalist class is stronger than the group interest.

The demand for full government maintenance of school children put forward by the Workers (Communist) Party of America as the only method of overcoming the pressure of poverty that drives thousands of workers into industry is responsible for the new outburst of rage in the capitalist press like that quoted above.

The Communists, with their customary disregard of agencies of ethics displayed by the labor fakery and liberal sentimentalism in their class collaboration schemes, have put some punch into the agitation for abolition of child labor. They have forced a lot of slobbering "saviors" of children to either get behind a genuine slogan or to get out of the picture altogether and acknowledge that they were against child labor because it was good advertising.

Whoever is against full government maintenance of the children of workers and farmers while they are in school is against the abolition of child labor and on the side of the child robbers for whom the poverty of working class parents is a source of joy and profit.

Oil and Art

A writer who styles himself a revolutionist wrote an article recently under a fictitious 100 per cent American cognomen, in which he paid a tribute to American oil and the bourgeoisie art collector. This has been a rather a just and an objective on the theory that "all lovers of art are friends."

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is a lover of art. He proves it by giving one million dollars to the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art. The gift was in oil stock and the artist's income from the gift will approximate $2,000.

J. P. Morgan is an art collector and a generous donor to art museums. The same is true of most of the millionaires who grind their slaves under the mill of liberal sentimentalism to wring more profits out of their toil, so that the exploiters can enjoy the luxuries they and their wives and affinities care for and still have plenty left over to gratify their desires to pose in public as benefactors and supporters of the arts and sciences.

The workers are art lovers, if it could not be proved they had the necessary knowledge to appreciate true art. But those of them who have the knowledge have not the leisure to enjoy art. The art is not for the working class under the capitalist system.

Only when the workers become the ruling class and begin the task of abolishing all classes by abolishing capitalism will those who carry the burdens of the world on their backs be able to enjoy the work of artists which is now the luxury of the parasitical class.

Are Facts Doomed?

A British scientist is responsible for the remarkable statement that in the near future the world will come to a realization of the fact that there is no such thing as a fact. He says: "Belief in things has been a hindrance to the development and realization of things as no facts. Their true understanding will be led to more rapid progress in wireless, radio science and atomic knowledge."

The Briton made other statements, but none so interesting. Until the arrival of the atomic bomb puzzle the most wonderful problem in the world was to distinguish between a fact and an alleged fact. Figures and facts were the playthings of liars and the masses were obliged to take what they got or live in a vacuum.

But in the event of the British scientist's prediction being fulfilled, the world can breathe easier and the millions of people who live by collecting facts of doubtful purport may stop believing.

Thesis on Reorganization of Party on Basis of Shop Nuclei

Adopted Unanimously by the Central Executive Committee, Workers Party. The Fifth Congress of the Communist Party of America declared that one of the conditions for the abolition of the existing Communist party structure was that it be reorganized to become and to function as a Communist party, was that it be reorganized to begin the work of the Communist party as soon as possible the shop nuclei branch may become the basic party unit.

The Third National Convention endorsed the proposal for reorganization of the Workers (Communist) Party under the central executive committee to make the shop nuclei the basis of our organization and to strengthen the central executive committee to develop detailed plans for carrying out this decision at the earliest possible date.

While the Congress of our party decided that for the immediate future, dues should be collected through the Communist Party, International stated that dues should be paid through the shop nuclei, and these have already been taken in, in some instances, as expertly as the organization of shop nuclei, and these have worked out to the advantage of the Communist Party, demonstrating the superiority of the shop nuclei over the present branch form.

The central executive committee of the party realizes, however, that the reorganization of the party on shop nuclei basis is in itself, it is of such a nature that it has to progress through a number of stages. It is necessary to reorganize the party on shop nuclei basis in a manner that will not endanger the existing party structure to such an extent as to make it impossible to carry out the necessary work of the party.

The party recognizes that our membership is not organized on shop nuclei basis, and that, therefore, it is necessary to reorganize the party on shop nuclei basis. It is necessary to reorganize the party on shop nuclei basis in a manner that will not endanger the existing party structure to such an extent as to make it impossible to carry out the necessary work of the party.

Why We Must Organize on Shop Nuclei Basis. A Communist party must have its roots deep among the masses of the workers and particularly among those workers who because of their position under the capitalist system are under the most direct control of the capitalist system.

Shop workers who because of their position under the capitalist system are under the most direct control of the capitalist system. They are the workers who are most directly affected by the capitalist system and they are the workers who are most likely to be organized on shop nuclei basis.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., AND ERIE, PA., RECOGNIZE THE IMPORTANCE OF SUPPORTING "DAILY" TO THE LIMIT

(Special to the DAILY WORKER) The meetings of the Young Workers League, addressed by Alfred Wagenknecht, insurance campaign director for the DAILY WORKER, took on added interest because the membership present clearly understood that the building of the party, especially through membership of the party, depended to a very large extent upon the building of a large DAILY WORKER circulation in these cities. In Erie the comrades were promoted, firstly in completing their quota in the drive to make the sale of 10,000 copies. Policies were sold at the meeting in Erie and the comrades were instructed to carry the message left with them by the speaker here to their branches. Secondly, the members present wanted to know what methods were being used by the branch to carry out the work of the daily. And then also, interest was displayed in securing the more active support of the members in all tasks of the party. The discussion eventually resulted in a full realization that an alive link between the Young Workers League and members, to be a very great extent, based upon firstly, having a powerful "sell" address to the members, and secondly, in securing a large quota for the Young Workers League. This was done by making a constant appeal to the members to support the DAILY WORKER with finances at once, and to secure at least 500 subscribers in Erie was an immediate and most important task for the comrades for the best antidote for inactivity.

When the committee in charge of the reorganization finds that there are three or more workers in the same shop or factory working in the same shop or factory called and measures taken for the formation of shop nuclei. It does not matter how many members belong to different language branches. The committee in charge will determine possible for shop nuclei organization. At all times, comrades working in the shop should organize or make arrangements to carry propaganda in the shop and prepare themselves to be able to function as a regular shop nucleus in the future.

DUTIES AND POWERS OF THE SHOP NUCLEI.

1. The shop nucleus, when organized and functioning, when organized for two months becomes the basic unit of the party with all the powers of the party. The shop nucleus shall receive a charter from the party. During this period, the shop nucleus shall have the right of voice and vote in the party. The shop nucleus shall elect its members, and all other subordinate party units to carry on an extensive program of education among the party membership so that they will become acquainted with this plan of organization of the party on shop nuclei basis. It is necessary, and thus make it possible that it becomes an accomplished fact on the largest possible scale in the near future. The central executive committee shall exercise power and judgment and control in accordance with the reorganization plan that the party units and are chartered as a regular party unit, each delegate shall be seated with the shop nucleus as other delegates during the intermediate stage of its organization, such delegates shall have a voice but no vote.

2. Shop nuclei organized of workers not members of any territorial branch may be chartered at once as the basic party unit, with full party powers.

3. Where there are city central committees, the shop nuclei send delegates direct to the city central committee. When the shop nuclei are chartered as a regular party unit, each delegate shall be seated with the shop nucleus as other delegates during the intermediate stage of its organization, such delegates shall have a voice but no vote.

4. When the shop nucleus has been chartered, its members have the right of voice on the party questions in their shop nuclei in the same manner as formerly in the party branches. When the shop nucleus no longer have powers in the branch except as mentioned.

5. The shop nucleus makes the shop in which it is organized the field of its agitation and propaganda, distributes and sells literature, circulates the subscription lists for funds, carries on the trade union, industrial and political work of the party, and in all other ways supports the party work.

LANGUAGE BRANCH MEMBERS AND THE SHOP NUCLEI. 1. The language branch members who are transferred to membership in the shop nucleus, retain, at the same time, their membership and rights in their present language branches insofar as the questions of their language sections are concerned. They have the right to vote on all questions affecting the language sections in their language branch, provided however, they vote on party questions in the shop nucleus, they have no vote in the language branch. 2. A record shall be kept of language branch members.
