GARMENT BOSSES CALL TO LABOR HATING CROWD TO DO DIRTY WORK AGAINST AMALGAMATED STRIKERS

The bosses of the international and local Taylor Clothing companies not satisfied with the brutalized practice by which they solve their labor problems have called a "hating crowd" to do dirty work against the Amalgamated strikers.

Crowd, ever ready to help in any fight against organized labor set a detective from his private force to the assistant of the International Tailoring union. It is understood that the assistant is an Amalgamated member.

When one of the strikers asked the hater and brutal looking detective from Crow's office who he was and why he was busting about in the street, he replied that he was a detective from Crow's office who he was and why he was busting about in the street.

SYNOPSIS—The preceding instalments of the official report of the British Trade Union Delegation to Soviet Russia told how well the Soviet Government treats its counter-revolutionary political prisoners, and described the Soviet form of government, its social and introduction table of the extent of the travels of the seven members of the delegation, who visited not only the principal cities but took excursions to various agricultural regions. The last two instalments dealt with the Russian State finances, which is being continued today. The instalments will appear in the DAILY WORKER every day.

The Budget of 1923-24 increased in its totals by half a milliard, or 50 per cent. The Budget was reduced to normal form, and the Tsarist Budget of 20 years before, 1904, which was 2,738 million roubles, as compared with 2,235 million roubles in 1903. This increase in 1904 was the result of the Japanese War, but the Budget of 1923-24 was partly the result of the same war.

Normal conditions, partly of a revival of economic production. Thus the total foreign trade rose in 1923-24 to half as much again; the internal trade total (robbed) freight rose by half, the credit on free balance at the National Bank increased five times. The country consequently carried the increased burden which had been checked to its growth.

Growth of Budget

It follows then that the Budgets are growing rapidly in their totals, and this process having now passed through the stage which the Budget was reduced to normal form, and function, a question may arise whether the growth is not excessive, and whether it is not national income justified.

In comparing present with past figures it should be remembered that the Empire included industrial districts of only 100,000 population, with a total population of 100 million. Various estimates calculate the national income at 40 per cent. pre-war values a head as compared with 101 pre-war roubles or 100 million dollars with a population of 100 million. The 1923-24 Budget of 1.4 milliards would, allowing for the increase in pre-war values, be equivalent to about 15 per cent. of the national income. This would not be an undue burden.

Another estimate, that of Gosplan, puts the total of production in 1923-24 at 121. On this basis the Budget revenues would be 18.9 per cent. of the national income. In 1922-23 it was 19.7; in 1923-24 at 121. On this basis the Budget revenues would be 18.9 per cent. of the national income.

Another calculation shows that the increase of 1923-24 over 1922-23 was 19 and 13 per cent. in 1923-24. This would mean that the increase of 1923-24 over 1922-23 was 19 and 13 per cent. in 1923-24.

Neutral Observer Sees Shanghai Strike

city under Chinese government, the Neutral Observer sees Shanghai as the International Settlement, and the International Settlement, governed by a municipal council, composed of representatives from America, France and one Japanese. One of the American members is the American Consul.

The strike is confined to the International Settlement, and to British and American firms. The British firms are the largest and dominant, although the American firms are the most powerful and a British officer orders the police to fire. Also it was the killing of a British subject, which led to the strike, which led to the strike, which led to the strike.

The labor men of Shanghai are anxious to have the workers of the United States understand that this is not a fight between capital and labor but a fight between the workers of the United States and the workers of the United States.

The strike is conducted by the Shanghai General Union of Workers and Education. The constituent body of this union is composed of several unions composed of some 10,000 small units. The union is controlled by the General Labor Union of Shanghai, a federated body representing about 100,000 workers in the International Settlement, the Shanghai Students' Union, the Chinese Students' Union, a national body, and the Chinese Federation of Students, which has delegates to a central committee.

The students are the active propaganda force. They brought the merchants in to both with them but insisted on staying in the college and schools, as their food had been cut off. They stopped all classes and got out printed matter, making speeches and collecting funds.

BUILDERS AT WORK

The British Report Is Becoming Unanimous

Everybody's Doing It.

The Report of the British Union Delegation to Soviet Russia, now being published in the DAILY WORKER, is being read with interest in the world trade union movement. And every day more favorable reports are coming from labor leaders.

And now comes news that the British Trade unions have just returned making a most favorable report on Soviet Russia, calling for world trade union unity.

And now comes news that a Franco-Belgian delegation has returned from a trip of investigation through Soviet Russia, with a most favorable report. This report, like the British one is seen to be a definite step.

Now is the time! Never was there such a good time as the present to take to the workers in your city and local unions on the question of World Trade Union Unity and recognition of Soviet Russia.

That you will get subscriptions to the DAILY WORKER we take for granted. That's the job of a Communist at all times. But now is the time to get a handle of the DAILY WORKER every day in your local union meeting. Now is the time to take a pocketful of copies of the DAILY WORKER, class them by a list of labor workers, and distribute them as you see fit.

Run your union in today, tell us how many copies you want and we will get them for you, if you want them. This is a free building job for a Communist Builder.

Our Readers' Views

A Good Word for Our Daily. To the DAILY WORKER: Permit me to say a few words in praise of your paper. It is the best I have ever read. It is the best I have ever read. It is the best I have ever read.

What a contrast to Britain's labor problem! Collecting union contributions is so difficult in your country. It is so difficult in your country. It is so difficult in your country.

And as for our dear liberals, in the face of Communist propaganda, they hang between heaven and hell. Keep hammering on the line as you have been doing.
