World Labor Is Turning its Eyes, More and More, EXPLOITS YOUTH Toward the Soviet Union

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL

TODAY, the eyes of world labor are drawn toward the Union of Soviet Republics more than ever. The power ful misgnetic attraction will continue to grow as the days pass. Not entirely because of England's fear of Soviet influence in China or Egypt, of the French dread of Bolshevik propagands in Syria or Marcon are hardened to Bolshevik propagands in Syria or Marcon are hardened to Bolshevik propagands in Syria or Marcon are hardened to Bolshevik propagands in Syria or Marcon are hardened to be a supplementation of the state of the sta

The international auto reliability test tour from Leningrad to Ifflis and return may be quickly forgetten in the buy deep shead. But its significance must be apparent to the lening the second of the world. In the words of the American, J. M. Nills, driving a three-and-a-half ton auto truck, "We get more flowers on the second of the seco

The American auto truck driver spoke better than he knew. Those flowers might fittingly be considered as amy nails driven in the coffin that contains the last remnants of the capitalist social order in the Soviet Union, accompanied by the last devinding hopes of the disappearing bourgeoists. They are nails driven in the coffin of world capitalism as well.
