DIAMOND TRUST BALKS PHOSPHOROUS FIGHT

Legislative Hearing Today Postponed at Request of Attorney for Big Manufacturers.

(Special to The Call.)
WASHINGTON, June 21.—Plans for immediate legislation to prohibit the use of poisonous phosphorus in the manufacture of matches have been balked for the present by representatives of the Diamond Match Company. The congressional hearing called for tomorrow by the committee on ways and means.

President Taft recently urged the immediate action upon the subject because of the horrible effects of phosphorus, the use of which has long been prohibited in other countries, where harmless substitute is used. The poisonous substance used in American match factories produces a necrosis of the law, resulting in surgical operations and death. These matches also cause the death of many little children who innocently suck off the ends and die in terrible agony.

Called to President's Attention.
The subject was brought to the president's attention a short time ago by the American Association for Labor Legislation, whose secretary, Dr. John B. Andrews, recently completed co-operation with the United States Bureau of Labor, a national investigation of this unnecessary disease. Upon the request of President Taft, a summary of the report of this investigation, which first appeared in Bulletin No. 16 of the Department of Commerce and Labor, has just been reprinted in pamphlet form for wider distribution.

The postponement of Wednesday's hearing, at the request of the attorney for the manufacturers, means that for at least another half year millions of American match factories will continue to produce matches which are sold to little children in American homes and to deny the legislative protection given to its citizens by every other large commercial country in the world.

Nine of the leading countries in Europe, including England, France, Germany, Italy, and Sweden, have entered into international treaties which absolutely prohibit the manufacture, sale, importation and exportation of matches from this dangerous substance.

America Behind Europe.
The United States has the effort to solve the problem in a scientific way balked by the attorney for the largest match company in this country. In several years ago built a large factory in England where the use of phosphorus was stopped by unanimous vote of both houses of the British parliament in 1908. In several countries the use of the poison has been denied match manufacturers for nearly twenty years.

Will Permit Use of Patent.

Aaron, Ohio, March 15, 1909.
E. McKenna, Special Agent, Bureau of Labor, Washington, D. C.
Dear Sir—The Diamond Match Company, owner of patents for the use of sesquisulphide of phosphorus in the manufacture of matches in America, believing this article to be a remedy for the prevailing trouble in manufacturing matches, namely: phosphorus necrosis, is willing to permit the use of sesquisulphide in the manufacture of matches in America, if the government provides for the protection of the use of white phosphorus by other manufacturers of matches not owning an interest in the patent, they all to be put on equal terms with the Diamond Match Company as to the use of the patents.

The government of England has passed a bill prohibiting the use of white phosphorus in the manufacture of matches on equal terms, as per copy enclosed.

POLITICIAN ATTACKS WOMAN

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—William H. Taft, a member of select council from the city of Philadelphia, was given a lesson before Squire R. A. Heildrich, of the city of Boro, at 1 o'clock today upon charges of assault with attempt to ravish, when he was charged with the offense by Lydia M. Heaney, the wife of Howard Heald Heaney, a salesman for the Grand Tea Company. He has been visiting the home for the last two years and Mrs. Heaney followed her into the room and threw her roughly to the floor and attempted to molest her. The woman makes a complete denial of the charges. He was, however, committed to jail and gave bail to the amount of $500.

AMERICANS AND GERMANS CLASH

Wily Turks Invite Yankee Investments to Draw This Nation into Balkan Muddle.

BERLIN, June 21.—The foreign office, at the request of the American State Department, is inquiring afresh concerning certain concessions in Asia Minor long in negotiations between the Turkish government and Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, U. S. N., retired. The admiral represents a group of American financial interests, including, it is understood here, the Standard Oil Company.

Recently Baron Marschall Bieberstein, the German ambassador at Constantinople, represented to the port for that the Turkish government to grant these concessions would be to controvert the mining law agreed upon by the port and the European ambassadors. The representations of the German diplomats appear to have been made at the instance of the Anatolian Railway Company, which is financed largely by the Deutsche Bank. The railway company maintains at Constantinople a so-called political director in the person of Professor Helfferich, who was formerly connected with the German foreign office.

The entrance of American capital to Turkey is regarded with misgivings by the German, French, and British interests already there, and these interests would seem to have united in opposing by political pressure at the port any favors to Americans. The Turkish government, however, encourages investments from the United States, as they will tend to relieve it somewhat of diplomatic pressure whenever questions relating to finance arise.

This slap was made by President Sydney C. Buxton, of the Board of Trade, at Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, today, in opening the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce. The congress is being attended by nearly 500 delegates.

RUSK, Tex., June 21.—No arrests were made today as the result of the lynching of Leonard Johnson, a negro, who was burned at the stake last night after he was reported to have confessed the murder of Miss Maude Redding, a white girl. Sheriff Norwood, from whom the negro was taken, said he did not recognize any of the members of the mob and no further attempt to discover their identity is expected.

LABOR PROGRESSING, SAYS MOTHER JONES

Workers of Today Do Their Own Thinking, Declares "Stormy Petrel" in Special Interview.

(By Pan-American Press.)
Washington, June 21.—The workmen of this country are at last beginning to think for themselves. These significant words came from the lips of Mother Jones, the gray-haired labor agitator, who for the last thirty years has participated in every labor struggle of any prominence, whose presence on the field of action inspires courage and hope among the workers, and strikes terror in the hearts of the masters.

"In the years gone by," said "Mother," as she is fondly called by the millions of her "boys," "the workers were absolutely helpless and dependent on the ability and loyalty of the leaders. Today the leaders are absolutely helpless and dependent on the strength and intelligence of the rank and file.

"The work of the old warriors of the labor movement, who have blazed the way with sacrifices for a cause that burned their souls, is bearing fruit. The workers are at last fired with the spirit of revolt and religiously and industrially they are working out their own salvation."

With the force and strength characteristic of the "Stormy Petrel," and with a sudden brightening of her kindly face, she transmitted to her interviewer the thoughts that were stirring her soul when she uttered, "They are working out their own salvation."

"There are any number of plain workmen," continued Mother Jones, "who for clearness and logic in analyzing and understanding economic questions can give cards and spades to any senator and representative in Washington."

"Workmen of today exchange ideas and discuss important problems in the workshops, at their union meetings, and in their ever growing labor press. These are the most promising signs of the times."

Mother Jones has spent the last ten days in Washington, doing her utmost to secure a congressional investigation of the persecution of the Mexican political refugees in this country. When she was called upon to testify at the hearing on Representative Wilson's resolution for an investigation of these outrages before the house committee on rules, Chairman Dazell asked her to state the place of her residence.

"I live wherever the workers are fighting the robbers," she replied to the surprise and embarrassment of a number of corporation men who are members of the committee.

Although seventy-six years of age, Mother Jones has no thought of retiring. "I am still in the fight," she says. "From here I am going to New York city, and see what I can do for those bakery boys who are there on strike. From there I am going to the anthracite region, and from there I don't know."

Working to the limit of her strength for those who are living, Mother Jones has not forgotten those "old warriors" who have blazed the way.

"In a lonely spot in Bruceville, Tex., marked only by a piece of an old iron shovel is the grave of Martin Irons, the labor pioneer, who is unhonored, unused and unremembered," feeling said Mother Jones.

Martin Irons, on whose bleached bones the brotherhood railroads have been built, the man who was hounded to death by the Goulds and their satellites is buried in an obscure spot in the little cemetery of that small Texas town. When I visited the grave, these words came to my lips:

"Here lies the hero of the industrial battle. He lies alone and yet not alone, for the mocking birds are singing their love songs to their mate.

"In the near future I am going to have his remains moved to the cemetery of the martyred miners in Mt. Olive, Ill., and there Martin Irons will sleep with fellow soldiers who have given their lives for humanity's greatest cause."

SAILOR'S DEATH A MYSTERY.

CLASS ORATOR FLAYS COURTS

Cornell Graduates Gasp as Young Edgarton Calls Judges Tools of Money.

Ithaca, N. Y., June 21.—Ancient, honorable and conservative members of the Cornell Alumni Association today received the shock of their lives when Henry White Edgarton, of Washington, D. C., class orator, rose before a large assemblage and fired a broadside of radical truths into the quivering and bewildered brains of his hearers.

It is safe to say that the successful representatives of modern business methods and defenders of present day financial faith imagined that they were passing through some dreadful dream when Edgarton denounced the state and federal judiciary as the pliant tools of vested interests and declared that belief in the divine right of the United States Supreme Court judges to pass on all legislation must be eradicated from the public imagination before free and just government can be established.

Edgarton said in part: "State and federal judges are representative of the capitalist class. They have fought the fight of the capitalist class, and they have appropriated extraordinary weapons in order to fight it with more effect. Popular government should be a government of sober second thought, but it must be the second thought of the people themselves. What the people cannot long endure, and the exercise of the ultimate legislative authority by the nine elderly gentlemen who compose the Supreme Court upon second thought, or third thought, is exactly as much like popular government as a ukase of the Czar of Russia."

Judicial usurpation, which profits the capitalist class, will not profit us. While the notion of the divine right of judges is permitted to live, it will grow. It is our duty to see that all judgeships are made elective; to see that the courts, especially the Supreme Court, are filled as rapidly as may be, with men in whose eyes property was made for man, and man not for property."

Well fed gentlemen and wealth and ease snorted in amazement and indignation. Several left their seats and departed from the unholy presence of one who thinks men are more sacred than property.

Where had this youngster learned such treason? What had old Cornell come to? Gentlemen who have never allowed a doubt of the justice of the present order of things shook their heads sadly and departed in anger.

INJUNCTION ISSUED AGAINST EDGE MAKERS

Haverhill Shoe Manufacturers, Unable to Run Plant, Go to Court.

By JOHN WEAVER SHERMAN.
(Special to The Call.)
BOSTON, Mass., June 21.—The strike at the shoe factory of Hillard & Taylor, Haverhill, has reached the injunction stage.

Judge Fessenden, in the Equity Motion Session of the Superior Court, this afternoon issued an injunction against Business Agent C. F. Harrington, and the officers and members of Edge Makers Independent Union, Local 3, whose membership is located in Haverhill, Salem and Lynn.

The strike has been going on since April 8, and the employers were evidently getting the worst of it, and so resorted to the usual capitalistic cure.

MAGISTRATE VOORHEES GIVES QUEER DECISION

A queer conception of justice was shown by Magistrate Voorhees in Brooklyn yesterday when he settled a dispute between a man and a tailor without regard for the labor of the tailor.

William Fuchs, thirty-three years old, who has a tailor shop in Bath avenue, near Twenty-first avenue, was before Magistrate Voorhees in Court Island court yesterday on complaint of Ann Jackson, colored, of 1835 Bath avenue, who declared Fuchs tried to overcharge her for a dress he made.

The dress was in court and matters were finally settled by Magistrate Voorhees ordering it ripped up and all goods belonging to the Jackson woman returned to her.

HALF-NAKED SCABS SWELTER IN CELLAR

Cops Guard Model Bakery Where Bread and Rolls Are Made by Miserable Wrecks of Manhood.

By CARRIE W. ALLEN.
"Move on! They don't allow no one to look in these windows," said one of the many blue-coated minions of the law who are detailed to guard the Fleischmann scabs at work.

The crowd moved obediently on, but one stopped to question, "Who doesn't allow it?"

"I d'know. Them's me orders, and I has to obey me orders," answered the policeman.

A look inside, and one knew why the crowd was kept moving on, why at times even the hose was used to keep them moving on.

It was signaling hot last night. All who could, sought the streets or parks looking for relief from the stifling heat.

Inside the Vienna Model Bakery, at 81st street and East End avenue, the heat of the gas added to the heat from the ovens made the atmosphere intolerable.

UNION MEN CLEAN.

In the days before the strike there had been nights when the heat rose to 115 degrees. But the bakers were decent men. In spite of their degrading conditions of work, many of them remained self-respecting men.

No matter how great the heat the men were always decently covered, to protect the bread from the sweat of their bodies.

But these men, who struggled so long for decency of life against fearful odds, are now on strike. Do you not know it? Since May Day the New York bakers have been on strike.

Scabs picked from the alms have been put in the bakers' places to make our bread.

These scabs have no self-respect. They know nothing of decency. They

BIG CHANGES IN MILWAUKEE RULE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 22.—A change in the city administration second only in importance to that in the mayor's office itself, went into effect yesterday.

When Harry E. Briggs became commissioner of public works, succeeding J. P. Sherrer, A. J. Grundman and L. A. Jensen, who, with City Engineer C. J. Pootsch, composed the outgoing board. This puts all public works of the city under one official.

The first official act of the new commissioner was to name J. J. Handley as superintendent of the street cleaning department. Upon him will devolve the duty of making good on one of the most emphasized planks of the Social-Democratic platform—that demanding clean streets. Handley has for years been business agent of the machinists' union in Milwaukee, and is regarded as one of the most efficient labor organizers in the state.

Other changes today were the naming of the following men to office by the mayor: Dr. Frederick A. Kraft was named as member of the fire and police commission. Dr. Kraft is a Social-Democrat and a fluent public speaker.

Fred C. Runge, business agent of the plasterers' union, was named as city service commissioner. Carl Landsee was named as commissioner of public debt, to succeed E. P. Hackett.

CANADIAN NAVY STRIKES A SNAG

MONTREAL, June 21.—Canada's navy has hit its first snag. The government had planned to construct a large dry dock and ship building plant here, the work to be commenced almost immediately.

Albert Vickers, of Vickers Son & Maximal, who were the successful bidders for the work, arrived here yesterday to look over the proposed site. Today he and Lewis Orr, his Canadian representative, are on the way to Ottawa to tell the government that their plan is completely out of the question and that they will have to change the present proposition to such an extent that it practically means that a new scheme will have to be worked out.

MEXICO IN FERMENT OF EXCITEMENT

Cities Under Martial Law—Diaz Orders Deportation of Liberal Presidential Candidate.

BISBEE, Ariz., June 21.—The Mexican custom house and postoffice in Naco, Sonora, was guarded by Mexican customs guards last night, in anticipation of an attack from revolutionaries. The Mexican customs collector came across the line to Naco, Ariz., bringing the custom house money, and went to the Mexican consul, whose house is guarded by American deputy sheriffs.

Yesterday afternoon the Mexican consul, Torres, at Naco, Ariz., received information that an attack was planned on Naco, Sonora. The attacking party was alleged to be composed of Mexican revolutionaries from both sides of the line. The plan was to seize the Mexican consul, Mexican consul communicated with the City of Mexico, and Mexican troops were ordered to Naco. One company from Cananea was due to arrive this morning. All ammunition and rifles in Naco, Ariz., were taken across the line last night by Mexican customs officers, and every available man was armed and ready in case of an attack.

"The deputy sheriff of Naco, Ariz., telephoned to Bisbee, and a posse left here at midnight, arriving in Naco at 1 o'clock this morning. It was feared that, if an attack was made on the custom house in Sonora, trouble might spread to this side of the line.

Mexican officers of Cananea have made several arrests of alleged revolutionaries during the last few days, and have sent them to Hermosillo. Mexicans carrying arms and ammunition into Mexico have been caught between Naco and Cananea and sent to jail at Nogales. It is said that merchants on this side of the line have been selling arms and ammunition in unusual quantities to Mexicans during the last few days.

CANAEA UNDER MARTIAL LAW.

Press dispatches from El Paso last night said that the town of Cananea, Mexico, is virtually under martial law. The authorities have taken measures to prevent political meetings that might start trouble. The police have orders to disperse any gathering of fifty or more persons.

The town is guarded by two companies of the 27th Infantry and a company of rurales is guarding the entrance to the city.

The trouble is among the younger element, who demand political liberty, free speech and "the right to vote."

Senor Madero, who has been named as their candidate for president and who has been put in jail at Monterey until the election is over, is the popular idol of young voters. They say: "On election day, the 26th, we intend to go to the polls and demand the right to vote, and if we are denied our constitutional rights we will fight it necessary."

Many proscribed meetings in Sonora villages have been raided, and the leaders have been ordered to leave.

A report is also current to the effect that President Diaz has ordered the deportation of Madero, the Liberal presidential candidate now held in the Rio Grande penitentiary.

RED BUCK BEATEN BY HIS WHITE WIFE

TRENTON, N. J., June 21.—Walter Atus sat on the brake wheel at the end of a hundred-ton coal car and watched Mrs. Atus shovel coal.

Atus is a full-blooded Sioux Indian, and Mrs. Atus is an ordinary red-blooded Caucasian female, who didn't mind being a squaw as the lawfully wedded wife of an Indian, but when the Indian put her at work, while he just sat around and smoked, why, that made Mrs. Atus mad.

She abused him and berated him, but to no effect. Then she tried plaintive pleadings, but these did not move the red man. He still bestrode the brake wheel and sang.

Finally, Mrs. Atus dropped her shovel and sailed into Atus, dethroning him from his perch and musing up his features and clothing with the inkly coal dust. The Indian seemed to be coming off second best when Patrolman Chapman arrived upon the scene. A number of bystanders told him of the circumstances and he determined to give both belligerents an opportunity to tell Police Justice Harris how it happened.

House Turns Down Bill Providing Emancipation Celebration.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—By a vote of 159 to 87 the House defeated a bill relating to the emancipation of the negro. The bill providing for the creation of a commission to determine the advisability of celebrating in 1915 the semi-centennial of the emancipation of the negro.

JUSTICE KEOGH WON'T ACT IN CAR STRIKE

Transfers Case to Justice Morschauser Where It Belongs—Receiver Refuses to Raise Wages.

Justice Keogh, sitting in special term of the Supreme Court at White Plains yesterday before whom Edgar Lennon of Yonkers endeavored to bring the difficulty between the Yonkers City Railway Company, decided that inasmuch as the matters of the railroad company were now before Justice Morschauser, he could not with propriety consider the case.

He said that the case would be transferred to Justice Morschauser and it may come up before him today at Poughkeepsie.

Before disposing of the motion by transferring it to Justice Morschauser, Justice Keogh made an earnest effort to bring the receiver, Leslie Sutherland, and the strike leaders together on a plan by which the cars could be operated temporarily and the serious situation in Yonkers relieved, pending Justice Morschauser's final decision.

He first suggested to Receiver Sutherland that he raise the wages of the men temporarily, but Mr. Sutherland declined to do this on the grounds that the previous wage scale had been fixed by the Supreme Court and he had no authority to change it.

He said that if the men would return to work at the old scale they would probably get a raise in a few months as the company was preparing to borrow $1,000,000.

The strike leaders flatly refused to return at the old scale and after an hour's discussion the matter was left at a dead standstill.

WILL MEET TO HELP STRIKING BAKERS

The Women's Auxiliary of the Bakers' Union will hold four meetings this afternoon for the purpose of considering means and ways of helping the striking bakers in their brave struggle for better conditions, more pay, and recognition of the union.

The meetings will be held in the following places: Labor Temple, 243 East 84th street, Manhattan; the Clubhouse, 3309 Third avenue, the Bronx; Labor Lyceum, 949 Willoughby avenue, Brooklyn, and 13 North Broadway, Yonkers.

It was reported by the pickets in front of Fleischmann's bakery, yesterday, that several scabs quit their jobs because of the intense heat in the shops.

"Only experienced men can stand the extreme heat at this time of the year," said Mark Roth, organizer of the union. "We are not surprised at the men leaving now, that the heat reaches 115 degrees."

He explained that the men work half naked, and said that unless they are used to the ordeal they will collapse soon. "It is only a matter of days," he said, "when the heat will drive them out, and the bosses will be forced to ask our men to return to work."

Christ Krueger, who is in charge of the Manhattan strikers, said that the men stick to the union with remarkable determination.

"It is praiseworthy how our men stand together," he said. "In spite of privation and want they are as determined now as they were on the first day of the strike."

A threatened lockout of union bakers in Yonkers was averted yesterday when the dispute as to the number of holidays which the men should have with pay was adjusted.

The bosses at first insisted that the only holiday they would give the men would be the Fourth of July, but they finally agreed to grant Labor Day, Christmas, and New Year's Day also. The bosses with whom this controversy was raised were among those who settled with the bakers on May 1.

BREAD TRUST HARD PRESSED BY BAKERS

"If Marten's bakery is not run under union conditions and the bakers' label is not used on his bread by July 1 he will lose his business of supplying the county jail," was the statement given by Sheriff Kelly, of Hudson county, to Business Agent Charles Rapp, of Bakers' Union, Local 115, who visited the sheriff for the purpose of getting him to use union bread in the county jail.

Mayor Wittensp, of Jersey City, has also promised the union representatives that he will tell Knust, Bergen avenue, Jersey City Heights, to sign up with the union. If he refuses to run a union shop he will lose his trade with the City Hospital, the mayor told the committee.

The trust bosses are now using a new scheme to take away the trade from the union bakers. On Sunday Shmalz, with two other men, went to Nonesser's "Little Coney Island" and spent $50 the bakers say, and he asked the proprietor of the place to handle his bread. On Monday when the union driver came with his regular load of ...Congress came around and told him that he will not handle union...

Application to dismiss the indictment returned against Robert A. Grannis, vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, was made to Justice Vernon M. Davis by Attorney Howard S. Ganz today.

Even those who have been prejudiced against labor unions are beginning to realize that the ideal of the Bakers' Union is to produce clean bread under sanitary conditions by healthy bakers.

The platform endorses President Taft's patriotic efforts to secure legislation for the benefit of the whole people.

SALARY RAISED, FIRES MANY WOMEN

Assistant Commissioner of Public Works Cries Economy When His Nest Is Feathered.

Forty-four women cleaners and men employed by the city for years in its various public buildings were dismissed yesterday.

The order came from Commissioner of Public Works Frothingham after a conference with Boro President McAneny and Assistant Commissioner Patterson, whose recommendation of dismissal for the women at once was reluctantly carried out by Commissioner Frothingham.

Recently the salary of the office of Assistant Commissioner of Public Works was increased at the request of the Boro President from $4,000 to $5,000.

Patterson recommended the discharge of the women on the ground of economy. The women received $300 a month. Patterson's increase of salary is nearly equivalent to the annual pay of the six women cleaners.

It appears that an exhaustive investigation, costing the city many hundreds of dollars, has been made into the employment of the men and women cleaners since February 1. Recently installed Boro officials wanted to reduce the expense of cleaning the city's buildings.

At an early session of the board in the morning, Patterson, who was intrusted with the work of cutting down the force, visited public buildings in a city owned automobile and took note of the arrival of the cleaners. Later janitors of buildings were summoned before a committee of the Bureau of Municipal Research.

They were asked if their respective staffs of cleaners could not be cut down; if they could not do the work of cleaning as cheaply as for private concerns. In most all instances the janitors protested that the work of cleaning could not be done with a reduced force.

"We found enfeebled women wholly incapable of doing the work required of them," said Commissioner Patterson, today, to a reporter for The Call.

"We found also that these were wholly dependent on had others dependent upon them. As a rule, we did not disturb them. But when we found a buxom woman with a family and a husband employed we set them aside, according to their length of service to the city."

"Economy solely was the aim. The forty-four women and eighteen men have been retired to the preferred list, so when others drop out of our employ those on the list may come back."

As a rule the janitors of public buildings whose forces were reduced today complain of the action of the officials in the Boro president's office. They declare that their forces already were impaired and that the work could not be done in the short hours accorded. They point out that the Boro president recently received authorization to purchase automobiles at a cost of $25,000, returning his office in the City Hall at a cost of $8,000, and increase salaries—Patterson's included—in the effort of $10,000.

These expenditures, aggregating $24,000, the janitors say, would pay the wages of 100 women cleaners for a whole year.

LITTLE GIRLS WOULD FLY FROM HOT CITY

Adventurous Youngsters Tired of Study Run Away From Home.

Two Brooklyn girls in search of an airship to take them away from the heat of the city were picked up in Manhattan yesterday morning. After finishing an examination Monday in the public school at Coney Island, the two girls, Rosie Fox, twelve, of 2815 West 14th street, and Helen Brennan, thirteen, of 2515 West 17th street, decided that it was too hot to do any more studying or work and they started off in search of an airship to take them away from the stifling heat.

It was not the first time the girls had run away. A year ago last spring they started out to see the inauguration of President Taft, planning to foot it all the way to Washington, but they got as far as Parkville before they were picked up by the police and sent home. They said the blizzard was to blame. Another time they were shipped home from Boro Park.

The two girls attend the same school. Last Friday, Helen wrote a note in school and by the underground route that little girls use, sent it to Rosie, asking her if she wasn't about ready to run away again. In some manner the message miscarried and the teacher got hold of the note and exposed the conspiracy.

Rose was much provoked at the accident, and she didn't tell her mother about it. But her older brother did. Yesterday, when she went to school for the afternoon session and test, Rosie kissed her mother a fond farewell and said that perhaps she might come home at 3 o'clock or maybe only a little later. The next thing the mother heard about her daughter she was in the care of the police in Manhattan and this morning her father went over to the S. P. C. C. in Manhattan to bring her back.

Helen Brennan is better known as Schaefer, since she lives with an uncle by that name. She is said to be an orphan.

LAD STRUCK BY POLE DIES IN HOSPITAL

Lawrence Reilly, five years old, who was struck Monday by a falling pole in front of his home, 178 India street, died yesterday morning in St. Catharine's Hospital.

A large piece of bone was knocked from the boy's skull by the pole, and he never regained consciousness. The other children who were injured will recover.

HELD FOR ROBBING FATHER.

Son of Wealthy Grain Merchant Arrested for Burglary.

David Merowitz, twenty, son of a wealthy grain merchant at No. 11 Beaver street, Brooklyn, was arrested before Magistrate O'Reilly in the Manhattan avenue court, Williamburg, on a charge of burglary and is held for the grand jury.

It was alleged that a week ago Merowitz, who had been away from home for some time, sneaked up the fire escape and hid under a bed until his parents were asleep. Then, it is said, he forced open a safe and stole $200. A brother of David traced the youth to Mountalinda, Sullivan County. David's brother locked him in a room until the arrival of a real detective from Brooklyn, who brought the prisoner back.

The police say David admitted robbing his father's home.

RICH WOMAN COMMITS SUICIDE IN HOTEL

Mrs. Hawes, of Bridgeport, Shoots Herself in Room at Grand Union Hotel.

Driven to desperation because of continued ill health, Mrs. Mary A. Hawes, sixty-five years old, a wealthy Bridgeport woman, ended her life by shooting early yesterday in the Grand Union Hotel.

She left several letters to relatives, explaining her act, and these were taken in charge by the coroner.

I. F. W. Hawes, a son, reached here this afternoon to take charge of the body. He said his mother appeared in good spirits when she left home for New Haven. He would not talk further than to say that she had been missing several days, causing her family much worry.

When found she was fully dressed. She had shot herself in the abdomen while lying upon the bed.

The first information about the suicide came when Leon T. Stowe, an undertaker, called up the coroner's office and reported it. The police knew nothing about the death.

Coroner Holtzhauser went to the hotel. The hotel authorities wished to keep the suicide quiet, as they had already made arrangements to have the body taken to the undertaking establishment of Stowe.

Gave Fictitious Coroner's Name. They even went so far as to give the police a fictitious name of the coroner.

Mrs. Hawes lived with two sons, David H. and Isaac F. W. Hawes, and a daughter, Miss Mary T. W. Hawes. Her husband died some time ago. The family came to Bridgeport, last November, and bought the Lenox street residence. They formerly lived in Southport, but spent the two years previous to coming to Bridgeport in California.

Mrs. Hawes was the daughter of David Wakeman, a wealthy Southport resident.

The son denied that her husband's death figured in his mother's suicide, saying they had not seen each other in twenty-five years.

CHILD RUN OVER DIES IN HOSPITAL

Toddler Playing in Street Hit by Trolley Succumbs to Injuries.

Mary Redding, two and a half years old, of 147 9th street, Brooklyn, who was run over by a Smith street car in front of her home Monday afternoon, died early yesterday morning in the Seney Hospital.

Mortman Wallace, whose car was bound for Coney Island, proceeded on his way, but at Prospect Park Circle he told a car starter that his nerve had given out, and he went to the Fifth avenue station, where he told about having run over the girl. After an investigation, the police, in accordance with Mayor Gaynor's instructions, permitted Wallace to go.

"I have a little one of my own," said Wallace, "and you may imagine how I felt. I know what this means to her parents."

MINERS' OFFICIAL FOR STATE TICKET

HERRIN, Ill., June 21.—Plans to start the fall campaign immediately after holding the nominating convention in this city on June 26 are being made by the Socialists here.

There is a probability that Groce Lawrence, vice-president of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, may be secured to run for State representative.

It is everywhere believed that he would make the strongest candidate and that the chances of his carrying the Socialist banner to victory are very good.

In spite of the fact that this is being made to secure a speaker who will be well qualified to talk Socialism to the farmers of this section of the state. In this way it is hoped to get a good vote among the tillers of the soil.

DRY GOODS TRUST GETS LORD & TAYLOR

It is reported in dry goods circles that the United Dry Goods Companies, controlled by J. P. Morgan, which already has a long string of wholesale and retail department and dry goods stores over the country, has arranged to take over the controlling interest in Lord & Taylor, one of the largest and oldest dry goods houses in New York.

Although all the parties interested refuse to confirm the sale, it is admitted that the deal is pending. The purchase price is kept secret.

The United Dry Goods Companies, of which John Cladin is president, was organized in 1909. Among the interests it has brought together are H. B. Clavin & Co., James McCrea & Co., of New York; Stewart & Co., of Baltimore; C. C. Gunther's Sons, New York; J. N. Adam & Co., Buffalo; O'Neill-Adams Co., New York; Hahn & Co., Newark; Powers Mercantile Co., of Minneapolis; William Henegar Company, of Buffalo, and the Stewart Dry Goods Company, of Louisville.

CRAZED BY HEAT.

Deaf Mute Beats Woman and Child. Is Later Arrested.

Apparently affected by the heat, William Roberts, a deaf mute, of 544 West 44th street, ran out of the house yesterday, flourishing a large hammer with his right hand.

Accompanied by Paul Fornwalt, now serving a twenty-year sentence, the men went to the home of Alfred Hallman, an aged man in Maric township, this county, January 31, 1909, planning to rob him. While they were gathering the silverware together the old man discovered them and Walter Aston shot him.

ROOSEVELT'S HAND GUIDES PRESIDENT

Wall Street Previews Fear of Hunter's Influence in National Legislation.

Wall Street got a slap on the wrist today. It has been smiling since the railroad bill went through, believing that there was nothing more to fear from the present session of Congress.

Today came the announcement that President Taft was not going to New Haven to take part in the commencement. Worse than that he was going to stay in Washington and crack the whip over the recalcitrant Congress, compelling it, wily nily, to pass the postal savings bank bill, one measure which Wall Street dislikes.

In addition it was believed likely that the postal savings bank bill when passed will contain a clause whereby most of the money will be kept in the localities where it is deposited. This was what Wall Street dreaded and what it feared would now happen in Washington.

There was but one solution in the minds of the big men in the financial centre. It was the first evidence, from their standpoint, that former President Roosevelt, Taft's sponsor in the last campaign, was again a factor in American politics.

They argue that this show of stubbornness on the part of President Taft indicated that he had been advised by Roosevelt; that the only way to get results in Washington was to show Congress that the President was master of the situation.

It was argued in the financial district that the present situation is paralleled only by happenings during the Roosevelt administration and leaders there are asking if it is not logical to suppose that Roosevelt and Taft, under the encouragement of the "private citizen of Oyster Bay," may not be preparing to end the dissensions in his party by compelling the majority members of Congress to "get together" on a legislative program for which Taft, as President and nominal head of the party, is to assume responsibility.

VINELAND, N. J., June 21.—Words suddenly failed the Rev. Dr. D. H. King last night while he was praising Theodore Roosevelt in the middle of a sermon to the Daughters of Liberty in the First Presbyterian Church, of which he is pastor.

He had referred to the ex-President as the "grandest example of integrity before the world today," when, he said later, his brain suddenly began to whirl and he found himself powerless to find words to continue his discourse.

Dr. King asked to be excused, walked out of the pulpit and soon recovered.

Cupid was jarred yesterday when two women and one man were brought to the bar in Essex Market Court, both women claiming the man as their husband.

Said Wife No. 1: "Your honor, please, I am married to this man for thirteen years and have an eleven-year old daughter. I am seven years in this country and he came three months ago and ever since we live together. This woman, she wants to take him away from me."

Said Wife No. 2: "The man married me in Russia nine months ago. Six months later he deserted me. I learned that he went to America and I came after him, and now I discovered him."

WORKMEN SCRAP OVER THEIR BOSSES' MERITS

Two carpenters who were discussing the virtues of their employer yesterday, each claiming that his own boss was the best, landed in Essex Market court, one with a scratched face, the other with a blackened eye.

"Your Honor, this man Feinberg, he hit me like this, because we had a fight outside of the hall after the meeting. Your honor, please, look at my eye."

It was Morris Tockolsky, of 318 Broome street, who spoke. When the magistrate looked at his eye he saw that it was closed, encased as it were, in a reddish-blue box; and he asked: "Why did you fight?"

"It was like this, your honor," said Tockolsky, "after the meeting at 98 Forsyth street, we came downstairs and this man Feinberg, he says that his boss is better than mine boss. Then I said, 'To hell he is, and your honor, he struck me, and there were a whole lot of bums and they struck me, too.'"

Magistrate Herrman ordered the plaintiff to bring witnesses and promised to try the case this morning.

The defendant is Barney Feinberg, of 37 East 100th street.
