"I see," said Seth, "that Mr. Carnegie is in the room and I am sure he will say a few words to us."

"Now among our household servants in the Highlands," began Andrew, "this vexing question of compensation does not enter."

"The audience again shouted its approval when Carnegie said that his home in the Highlands had been up and down three separate times by the head of the household."

Theodore Roosevelt spoke and spoke and spoke after he had been introduced by Chairman Low. It probably seemed like a longer speech...

"But I want most emphatically to warn you against the policy of those who seek to do wrong to corporations," said Theodore in the next breath.

And, as for Samuel Gompers, well, Samuel wore his Civic Federation smile against which no injunction or boycott had power to prevail...

"Therefore, it pleases me to be able to address this gathering of gentlemen who—er, and ladies; because there are plenty of ladies here, and I am glad there are. It shows that they are taking an interest in things worth while."

"And let me say that it is a much more worthy pursuit than that of seeking to vote. (Laughter, vintage of 1840.)"

"Let me tell you with all the emphasis I can bring to bear that this plan of workmen's compensation is not charity, or paternalism, or a favor."

"Let me say again what I said at New Haven the other day," began Theodore. "That is that I wish to see radicalism prosper under conservative management."

"I want to see progress made in the spirit of Abraham Lincoln, Lincoln was called the Great Emancipator."

"I want to see the progress which the force of evolution and not revolution, has made in the history of our people."

Things were quiet for a little while after Roosevelt stopped talking, but pretty soon a labor man named Bernard Nolan got up and said that speech of Roosevelt's was the greatest thing in the cause of labor that had ever been delivered.

"This is the first meeting of the Civic Federation," said Nolan, "at which I have ever heard anything that makes me believe the federation is dealing on the level with the workmen."

Chairman Low thought he scented something, and he made quick to smooth away the ruffles.

These men have to work eleven hours a day, with an hour for dinner, making it twelve hours that they must remain underground.

The man who told the reporter is physically unfit to work anywhere, let alone at subway track walking.

"The system which the company has in dealing with injured and dead men is very unscrupulous. When a track walker is killed outright his family is usually too poor to bury him."

"The poor fellow was shortly afterwards killed. He left a wife and three children, who are today dependent for an existence upon public charity."

Generally, however, the Interborough company will pay no compensation for injured and the injured workers being too poor to push the cases simply must submit.

SHOE WORKERS GET FURTHER SUPPORT Several Different Organizations Send Moral and Financial Aid.

The striking shoe workers of Brooklyn are feeling more encouraged every day. Despite the desperate effort of the employers to keep up appearances, they are known to be in a state of agitated doubt as to whether it is worth while to fight the men any longer.

A lawyer came cruising into strike headquarters yesterday and said he knew a way to release Luigi Lappa, whose sudden sentence to thirty days had been described in The Call and whom Hearst's Journalist made an "anarchist."

The strikers announced they had received more than $500 in contributions to their fund yesterday. One of the $500 was from the Shoe Workers' Protective Union of Haverhill, Mass.

It was also announced that the Helms-Hitters in the shop of Albert & Son had decided to support the strikers, and would come out today.

The Independent Jewelry Workers' Union requests The Call to print the following: "At a secular meeting of the Independent Jewelry Workers' Union, held on Tuesday evening, January 10, 1911, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas the 4,000 organized shoe workers of Brooklyn who have been on strike for the past few months, and suffering with their dependents upon their all sorts of privation, are being confronted with the disgraceful spectacle of their fellow workers, members of another union, scabbing upon them...

"Resolved, That we members of the Independent Jewelry Workers' Union, hereby register our most earnest protest against the action of the scabbing union and call upon all self-respecting unions to voice their declaration in a like manner, and be it further resolved: That all labor leaders in and around Greater New York be called upon to exert every effort they can muster to bring about a speedy settlement of a situation that has become a blot upon the history of trades union movement in the United States."

GOVT TO INSPECT LOCOMOTIVE BOILERS Railroad Brotherhoods Force Senate Finally to Pass Their Bill.

(By Pan-American Press.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The senate, moved by the pressure of the strongest labor organizations in America, the railroad brotherhoods, has passed the locomotive inspection bill. The measure is now in the hands of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, where Mann, the chairman, has already promised its passage.

LAWSYERS' ARGUMENTS EXPLODED.

Willis tore to shreds the arguments of the railroad lawyers that explosions were practically all caused by low water in the boilers. Locomotive engineers, said Willis, are not given to carelessly committing suicide, but he did point out cases where men were compelled to take out engines with leaking and dangerous boilers or lose their jobs.

Calls Meeting to Help Persecuted Comrades in Their Native Land.

An organization has been recently formed in New York city called the Rumanian Socialist League, which has made it its main purpose the assistance of the Socialist and labor movement in Rumania.

This movement is the outcome of the conviction that something must be done by the Rumanian Socialists in this city to assist the labor movement in their native country.

In the last two years more than a thousand Socialists and trades unionists have been mercilessly exiled from their own country for the "crime" of belonging to a labor or Socialist organization.

To bring before the public at large the details of the recent doings of the Rumanian government and to enlist the co-operation of the progressive element, a public meeting will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m.

Good speakers acquainted with conditions will address the meeting in English, Rumanian and Yiddish.

STEALING OUR LIBERTIES

By RICHARD P. APPLETON.

The attention of the people should be called to a decision rendered October 10, 1910, by the Circuit Court of Appeals, Eighth Circuit (182 Federal Reporter, 489). This case is an appeal from a decision of the Circuit Court of the United States for the district of Kansas.

Samuel Sullivan sued E. J. Pritchett, H. W. Folck, Jr., and H. C. Church for false imprisonment and malicious prosecution. Sullivan had been arrested by Folck and Church, policemen, at the direction of Pritchett, city marshal of Junction City, Kan. He was arrested and confined without a warrant or other legal process and without any complaint or affidavit having been filed in court or before a magistrate charging him with an offense against the laws of the state. It appeared at the trial that when the officers arrested Sullivan he had committed no offense in their presence and that they had no warrant for his arrest. They had merely acted on suspicion that he had stolen jewelry or had jewelry in his possession, knowing it to have been stolen.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION. Editor of The Call: Permit me to answer Professor Zueblin's letter complaining of my refusal to bite at his latest hobby, government by commission.

This is almost too silly to require an answer. People holding similar opinions naturally band together to propagate their ideas and apply them. In philosophy they form a "school," in religion a church or sect, and in politics a political party. A political trickster representing a party of definite principles such as the "straight" support of those principles. The Democratic and Republican parties no longer have any real distinguishing policies; both represent but capital; the line between them has become invisible and therefore "men and not party" has become the issue.

When I called upon Mr. Balfour a few days ago, I found him looking very depressed. He was loling limply in his study chair, gazing with unseeing eyes into the fire.

AFRAID OF PUBLICITY. The seven-year-old daughter of prominent suburban resident is, neighbors say, a precocious youngster at all events, she knows the ways of the world.

A NUISANCE. There were introductions all around the big man stared in a puzzled way at the club guest. "You look like a man I've seen somewhere, Mr. Balfour," he said up to her room.

THEFT. "But, my dear," said the young husband as he inspected the gorgeous jacket his wife had given him for Christmas. "I am afraid I must have lost money on this. Something cheaper would have done just as well."

ONE ASPECT OF THE CIVIC FEDERATION.

Seriously and deliberately considered, the actions and attitude of Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is not despicable, it is pathetic. Stone is a man of more than ordinary impulse toward intelligence, but he combats it. He assumes two fundamentally false positions: first, that labor and capital—speaking in the usual loose way—have something in common; secondly, that there is an aristocracy of labor that can be preferred and favored at the expense of the rest of the working class.

OUR INVISIBLE CITY CHAMBERLAIN.

What's the matter with Hyde? Nothing; he's all right. He knows his business. What's the matter with the City of New York? Hyde, and other things. The city can get along without him, but it does not know it. So it pays him $12,000 a year. If it isn't Hyde it is some one else.

WHAT IS SHEPARD?

The World does not want William F. Sheehan for United States Senator from New York because he would be a Ryan Senator. It is a fairly good reason. The New York World does want Sheehan. What does he represent? Not the people of New York. He is incapable of it.

Editor of The Call: I forced to ask a little of your space for a word of reality. Professor Zueblin, who dares the opponents of commission government a lecture in Monday's Call, Zueblin has evidently gone daft on this hobby of his.

JOURNALISM IN CACTUS CENTRE

Down here in Cactus Centre we ain't much on spittin' hairs; in the fancy shades of language we ain't puttin' on airs.

SHARPS AND FLATS.

"Why, Mr. Softop," exclaimed the fat vision, suddenly opening the front door. "How long have you been here?"

JUMPING AT CONCLUSIONS.

Young Lady (coming in with perfume from her room where she was washing what is being played). "Oh, mamma, I've captured the 'booby.'"
