STREET SWEEPERS HOUNDED BY SPIES OF BILL EDWARDS

Commissioner Runs Down Former Strikers With Spotters.

CONFIDENTIAL MEN

Three Weeks' Pay Held Up as a Result of Detective Activity.

Street Cleaning Commissioner "Big" Edwards has missed his calling. He should have been the head of a detective bureau. There he would have done things that would have made his name known to every man and woman in the city.

For the last three weeks the pay of employes in the Street Cleaning Department has been held up. They have not been paid since January 5, although the street sweepers are supposed to be paid weekly.

Yesterday a reporter for The Call called around at the office of the Street Cleaning Commissioner at 15 Park row to find out just why the street sweepers have had their wages held up for three weeks.

Commissioner Edwards was not in, but his secretary, Charles A. Whitney, explained it, and made it as plain as daylight.

Hunting the Fifty.

The 5,500 street cleaners have had their pay held up because detectives, or "confidential men," as Whitney called them, employed by Commissioner Edwards, reported that about fifty drivers of those who struck last fall, and have not been taken back by the Street Cleaning Department, "sneaked" into the service again under assumed names, Whitney said.

The "confidential men" of Commissioner Edwards spotted every one of these former strikers and immediately an investigation was begun, with a view to firing every one of them out. It was because of this investigation that the pay of all the men was held up, Secretary Whitney explained.

The secretary then described the routine connected with the paying of street cleaners. After the pay roll is made up by the Street Cleaning Department it goes to the controller's office. In that office the pay roll is compared with the city service lists. Any discrepancy between the two lists holds up the pay of the 5,500 men until the discrepancy is removed.

The report by Edwards' private detectives that fifty of the street sweepers have been strikers and have "sneaked" themselves back into the department under assumed names, necessitated a lot of investigation, and this is responsible for the holding back of three weeks' pay to the street sweepers. Such was the explanation of Secretary Whitney.

"You are determined then to run out of the department any man who had taken part in the strike last fall and has now got in again under a different name?" Secretary Whitney was asked.

"Yes, sir," came the gleeful reply. "How do you manage to pick out these former employes? Do you employ many spotters?" Whitney was asked.

"Yes," replied the secretary, in the same jovial spirit. "That is, we have a number of confidential men, who might call them confidential inspectors, who go from stable to stable looking over things, you know. Such an inspector comes into a stable and looks over the men. He happens to notice a face that looks familiar to him. He refreshes his memory and finds out that he had seen the same face some six months ago in a different stable. Then he looks up the civil service lists and finds that the man's name is there six months back, compares the names, and there we have the man properly nailed, and he is turned out of the department."

Whitney said that within the next week or ten days there will be a number of weeks' pay coming to each worker in the Street Cleaning Department, paying them off to date, and that after that pay would be forthcoming regularly every week, as the number of strikers to be spotted and held out has practically been reduced to nothing, thanks to the effective work of Commissioner Edwards' "confidential men."

George W. Prescott, business agent of Local 658 of the teamsters' organization, composed of the drivers in the Street Cleaning Department, had a different story to tell. Prescott was one of the leaders of the strike of the drivers last fall.

The drivers who have been disavowed by Mayor Gaynor, Prescott said, have nearly all found employment elsewhere and were rather glad to escape the tyranny of Big Bill Edwards and his sleuths who hounded the employes.

Prescott said, is a regular

AERIAL BOMB-THROWER HIT BY ARAB BULLET

TRIPOLI, Feb. 1.—While throwing bombs from an aeroplane into an Arab encampment near Tobruk in Cyrenaica, Captain Monte, an Italian military aviator, was severely wounded today.

The outposts of the Italian force at Tobruk, which was occupied by the Italian expeditionary army in October, have been subjected recently to a number of harassing attacks by the Arabs, whose position and strength were not known to the Italian commander. Captain Monte made a flight into the desert this morning with another military man and discovered the Arab encampment.

A number of bombs among the enemy, who responded with rifle fire. The aeroplane was struck four times and one of the bullets hit Captain Monte. He was able to return to camp, however, with the assistance of his companion, and both landed safely, bringing valuable information.

HIS BABE STARVING, HE TRIES BURGLARY

Youth From Texas in Sad Plight When He Loses His Job.

Three years ago John McCullough, who is today only 21 years old, heard the call of New York way out in Waco, Tex., his home town. John was an imaginative chap. He was energetic and daring. New York was the place for him, he thought, so in spite of the protests of his parents he came of the Empire City.

Yesterday young McCullough made an amateurish attempt to become a burglar and landed in the Harlem Police Court. He turned to burglary in the spirit of adventure, but because his wife and year-old babe were absolutely without food. And what was worse the landlord has not been $12 a week, while the police department is in the spirit of adventure, but because his wife and year-old babe were absolutely without food.

As he was standing in the station house yesterday, McCullough looked twice his age. New York, which only three years ago, seemed to offer the brightest prospects in the world, now seemed one great inferno.

The story of McCullough, as learned by the police, is simple. When he came here, he landed a job, making $12 a week, while the police department is in the spirit of adventure, but because his wife and year-old babe were absolutely without food.

When McCullough was among those laid off, in vain he pleaded with the foreman that he had not saved a cent, that he could not save from $12 a week, while the police department is in the spirit of adventure, but because his wife and year-old babe were absolutely without food.

Then began weary days of searching for a job and failing to find it. Yesterday morning the limit of despair was reached in the young McCullough household. Sneaking out of his flat, from which he was to be evicted, McCullough made an attempt to break into the home of William F. Schoen, of 18 East 83rd street. He was caught before he knew it. In the station house the police looked over the poor boy, examined his hollow face and wild eyes, and gradually learned the story of his distress.

McCullough's wife, who is well-to-do but ruined by her husband's improvident ways, John McCullough was among those laid off, in vain he pleaded with the foreman that he had not saved a cent, that he could not save from $12 a week, while the police department is in the spirit of adventure, but because his wife and year-old babe were absolutely without food.

When Schoen, whose flat McCullough was trying to enter, learned who this would-be burglar was, he not only refused to assist him, but called the police. The police and the Harlem Court attached contributed liberally and the money was turned over to McCullough to buy food for his wife and 1-year-old babe.

POLICE SWEEP DOWN ON PARIS STRIKERS

PARIS, Feb. 1.—Paris has lost considerable of its gaiety since the "taxi" strike. Today the strike increased to such proportions that the employers called on the police to take a hand in the matter.

The police, as was expected, replied to the call of the bosses and there were several clashes during the day between strikers and the guardians of the law. The strikers' cause was taken up by crowds of sympathizers and many taxis were broken and demolished. The cab drivers were pulled from their seats and were pretty roughly handled by the sympathizers.

The police, finding themselves outnumbered, applied for soldiers, who came running to the scene of the strike, charged and wounded fully a score of people. The police made many arrests.

CLAIMS ELECTION FRAUDULENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Henry M. Walsh, a St. Louis attorney, appeared before the House Committee on Elections today, to contest the election of Richard Bartholdt, the Missouri Republican, on behalf of Charles J. Maurer, Walsh challenged Bartholdt's citizenship and declared that many of the voters who cast ballots for Bartholdt were fraudulently registered.

Walsh said that within the next week or ten days there will be a number of weeks' pay coming to each worker in the Street Cleaning Department, paying them off to date, and that after that pay would be forthcoming regularly every week, as the number of strikers to be spotted and held out has practically been reduced to nothing, thanks to the effective work of Commissioner Edwards' "confidential men."

YEGGS EMPLOYED BY BURNS' AGENCY

The Great Sleuth Makes Damaging Admission Before Lorimer Probers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—William J. Burns, who, according to the 10-cent magazines appointed to be read on trains, has Sherlock Holmes beaten to a frazzle when it comes to genuine gumshoe sleuthing, admitted today before the Senate committee investigating the Lorimer case that on occasion his agency employed safe-blowers and jeggmen for "detective" work.

The taking of testimony today was enlivened by several verbal clashes between Burns and E. G. Haney, attorney for Lorimer, and the sleuth once or twice threatened to discipline the lawyer unless the committee acted promptly. Judge Haney was reprimanded by the committee and urged to strike the bristles of Burns the speech way.

The chief interest in the morning session was a threatened encounter between Burns, the first witness of the day, and Judge Haney. Burns became irritated at Haney's questions. "This man has been insulting me," he shouted at Chairman Dillingham, "and you call him or I will put a stop to his work."

"I will do just as I please about that matter," retorted the chairman of the committee. "Can't the witness protect himself?" roared Senator Kenyon, of Iowa. "Certainly," replied the chairman, "but he should not interrupt counsel in a discussion."

"This man has been bullying everybody who has been on the witness stand," continued Burns heatedly. "And I don't propose to be insulted. If he keeps on, I will tell something about his reputation."

"I guess my reputation is all right," retorted Haney. The incident was closed by Chairman Dillingham reprimanding Judge Haney. After Burns' admission that his agency employed jeggmen for "detective" work, he gave Judge Haney more information than he sought by adding that he had known of lawyers who employed crackmen to blow up safes in order to get evidence in their cases. No names were mentioned.

Haney then asked Burns if he had not stated publicly that he frequently lied to newspaper men. "Just as you do," replied the detective. "We call it sneezing or subterfuge."

PLANS ARE MADE FOR JONAS' FUNERAL

Procession Will March Without Music on Account of Sunday Laws.

The arrangements for the funeral of Comrade Jonas are complete. The body will be laid out in the Labor Temple on Sunday morning from 10 to 12. The organizations having their headquarters in that building will assemble there, and after viewing the body will march up to the Harlem River Casino, 127th street and second avenue.

The workmen's singing societies of New York and vicinity will sing. Several representatives of the Socialist party and labor organizations will speak in appreciation of the life work of our Comrade. To avoid overcrowding at the Harlem River Casino, we ask all those who can, all organizations who have their headquarters in the Labor Temple, to come to the Labor Temple in the morning.

Party branches and labor organizations who will take part in the procession from the Harlem River Casino are requested to form in line in the adjoining streets from 128th street down, and to form in lines of four abreast. On account of the Sunday laws, banners and flags will have to be draped in crepe and no music is allowed.

Organizations desiring to take part in the procession in a body will confer a favor if they will inform the organizer of Local New York, so that proper arrangements can be made for the formation of the procession. Young comrades who will assist by acting as ushers and marshals are requested to come to the office of Local New York on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, where they will receive their instructions.

The line of march from Harlem River Casino will be as follows: From the Harlem River Casino down Second avenue to 83rd street, 83rd street to Third avenue, Third avenue to 84th street past Party Headquarters and the Labor Temple to First avenue, First avenue to 79th street, where the procession will divide into two columns and let the hearse pass through on its way to the New York and New Jersey Crematory in Union Hill.

Comrades are requested to assist the committee in maintaining order and make the procession as demonstrative as possible. They can do it best by obeying the orders of the committee. Further details will be given in Saturday's issue of this paper.

ROCHESTER RAISES SALARIES

ROCHESTER, Feb. 1.—Salary increases affecting nearly every employe of the city, from the municipal court judges to janitors, are announced by Mayor Hiram H. Edgerton. Police and firemen and administrative heads and clerks receive substantial advances. The high cost of living is the chief reason.

MILLION LOST IN GARBAGE DISPOSAL

Board of Estimate Wakes Up to Need of Ending Refuse Graft.

The Board of Estimate at its meeting yesterday sought ways and means of disposing of the city's garbage at a profit to the city instead of letting it go to a private contracting company which makes nearly a million dollars a year out of the garbage.

At present the city disposes of its garbage to the New York Sanitary Utilization Company. This concern, it is estimated, gets a profit of $1,000,000 from the city refuse. There are many other forms of minor graft going along with the disposition of the refuse.

Two new contract forms were submitted to the Corporation Counsel yesterday for approval. One of these contracts requires the contractor to pay the city for the privilege of removing garbage, while the other, like the existing contract, provides that the city shall pay the contractor, and is to be used only in the event that the municipality cannot get a contractor to pay for the garbage privilege. Both are for terms of sixteen months.

It has been only within the last few weeks that members of the board awoke to the possibilities for reform in garbage disposal. When the fact was brought home to them that the city was actually paying money to contractors for taking away refuse, from the sale of which they were able to make substantial profits, the board became alive to the necessity of investigating the subject.

The first thing that impressed itself upon their minds was the necessity for arranging contracts for disposal of ashes, waste, and garbage, as well as for snow-trimming, in the various boroughs, so that they would terminate at the same date. To this end, it is calculated, the usual five-year contracts, the city has been rearranging its schedule by letting short-term contracts. In the meantime—and it will be sixteen months before the garbage contracts yet to be let expire—there will be opportunity for the study of the subject, and the consideration of new plans.

In a city the size of New York, the quantity of refuse of one kind or another is enormous. The garbage alone totaled upward of 350,000 tons last year. It is calculated that the ashes used for dumping and filling might be better utilized in the manufacture of glass, or by mixing them with green garbage, as briquettes for street paving. The single revenue from waste in the city has now a sum of $1,700,000 odd dollars, and it is estimated that a contractor for the privilege of trimming the snow loads of rubbish, his willingness to pay this sum being based upon the value of the assorted treasure trove he gets out of the waste.

As a matter of fact, the question of garbage disposal in New York has never been satisfactorily settled. It is felt by competent authorities to be a most difficult, unsatisfactory, over-expensive, and unhygienic. The method of collection has come in for criticism, and the equipment of the Street Cleaning Department, the schedule of collections, the entire machinery by means of which the city rids itself of its waste to best advantage. Other cities, notably some of the largest in Europe, have substantial profits to themselves. But New York, which spends more money on its streets, it is said, than any other city in the world, lags far behind them.

OWNING THOUSANDS, DIES OF STARVATION

Dead Man Is Found With Maniac Daughter and Famished Cats.

With thousands of dollars in his house, Henry Benfield, 79 years old, died of lack of food and exposure in his home at 1744 Garfield place, Brooklyn. His body, guarded by his maniac daughter, 44 years old, and a dozen starved cats, lay in an upper room since Monday, and in order to get to the detectives, summoned by neighbors, were compelled to beat the cats to death with their pocket knives and place the woman in a straitjacket. She was taken to the Kings County Hospital, where it was said yesterday she is probably hopelessly insane.

Benfield was a prosperous builder. The death of his wife, ten years ago, turned both him and his daughter into reclusers, and they remained most of their time inside the house. When neighbors told the police something was wrong, they tried to gain entrance, but Miss Benfield stood in the window and made faces at them. Finally they broke their way in and found the old man dead in his room. A doctor, hurriedly called, said he had died of starvation.

The death of Benfield, a well-known and successful contractor, was a tragedy. He was a man of means, and his death was a loss to the community. His daughter, who was a maniac, was kept in the house with him, and she was the cause of his death. The cats, which were starved, were found with him, and they were also a cause of his death.

NO AGREEMENT YET OVER MINERS' WAGES

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 1.—The interstate agreement of the United Mine Workers and bituminous coal operators, called for the purpose of making a law agreement for the employment of 250,000 miners, adjourned today without reaching a decision.

Another attempt will be made, however, to re-establish the joint interstate movement. Representatives of both the miners and operators agreed to hold a later meeting for discussion of the wage problem. This meeting will be held prior to March 31, when all the present important contracts between operators and miners expire.

PRIEST ARRESTED AS COMMON SWINDLER

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 1.—Rev. Joseph Marcavitz was arrested as an impostor at Ashlet today after he spent among the parishioners of Rev. Father Karnofski, of the Polish church, and declared he had been sent out to collect funds for use in mission work.

Church members became suspicious of his actions and called upon the police. Father Karnofski, who had practically revoked the authority to collect in his parish, Rev. Marcavitz was at once arrested. At the hearing, the priest declared he came from New Jersey, but he refused to name the town and to tell what he did with the money he was collecting and was placed in jail for a further hearing.

Party Meeting Postponed. The discussion meeting of Local New York, Socialist party, which was to be held next Sunday, will be postponed on account of the funeral of Alexander Jones, at the Labor Temple, 245 East 84th street.

BERGER ASKS FOR R. R. STRIKE PROBE

Declares Harriman Lines Have Big Pull With Government Officials.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Charging that the employment of inexperienced men in the work of repairing locomotives and cars on the Harriman lines has resulted in the loss of life and property and in the delay of United States mails, Victor L. Berger, the Socialist Congressman, today introduced a resolution in the House providing for the election of a committee to investigate the strike of the machinists and other shopmen on these lines.

The committee is to be composed of seven members and is authorized "to investigate all the facts regarding this strike and to report their findings at the earliest practicable time to the House."

Representative Berger declares in his resolution that charges have been made alleging that the Harriman lines are stubbornly refusing to treat with their former employees for purely speculative and stock-rising purposes. The companies involved are doing this despite the fact that they cannot efficiently operate their lines under present conditions.

It is generally known in Washington that the Federal Government has been most lenient with the Harriman lines since the strike began. The Postoffice Department, for instance, has so far tolerated the unreasonable delay of the mails caused by the strike on these lines. The department has not collected a penny in fines against the Harriman lines which are due under the law governing delays of the mails.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has also refused to use its power against the Harriman lines. Although these common carriers have caused enormous losses to trade and industry, so far all the complaints of shippers have been pigeonholed. For some reason or other the Commission is not exercising its power under the interstate commerce laws in this case.

Reports received by Congressman Berger show that the men on strike, although already out for more than four months, will stand out to the last unless the Harriman lines accede to their reasonable demands.

CARLIST ATTACKS FERRER DECISION

MADRID, Feb. 1.—In the Senate today, the Carlist, Senor Polo, who was supported by the Conservative, attacked the decision of the military court to give up Francisco Ferrer's estate to his heirs. He declared this was an unjust submission to the government.

The Finance Minister came to the defense of the government and an acrimonious debate prevailed until the President of the Senate moved the closure. A few days ago a Belgian newspaper said it had received information from the procurator of the estate of Prof. Francisco Ferrer, of the Modern School, who was murdered about two years ago by the Spanish Government for alleged participation in the bomb attacks at Madrid, that the Supreme Court at Madrid had practically revoked the judgment of the military court and declared Ferrer innocent. Consequently, the confiscated property had been restored to his heirs. Dispatches from Madrid, however, made no mention of the case.

IS THIS AIMED AT T. R.?

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—A resolution calling upon the House to express its disapproval of a third term for any President was introduced today by Representative Clayton (Dem., Tenn.). The resolution, in its text, follows that adopted by the House on December 18, 1874, aimed at President Grant.

STOPPED MAIL WAGON ON CRUELTY CHARGE

On a complaint made before Commissioner Shields, charging him with having obstructed the passage of a mail wagon, George A. Bagley, an officer of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, surrendered himself yesterday to the United States Marshal.

The complaint, sworn to by W. A. Kenyon, a postoffice inspector, says that Bagley, on January 30, delayed mail wagon No. 187, which was on its way from Long Island City to the Grand Central Station. Bagley asserts that he halted the wagon because the horses pulling it were unfit for service.

Bagley went to the Federal Building with Thomas F. Freely, superintendent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, who told Commissioner Shields that the mail contractor was violating the law when he sent unfit horses out to work. The examination was set for today.

SHOW EXPRESS RATES TO BE EXORBITANT

Figures Before I. C. C. Show How Public Is Mulcted.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—At the hearing today before the Interstate Commerce Commission in the investigation of the express companies, it developed:

That the express companies of the country will face criminal prosecution if their records continue to show great numbers of over charges and under charges.

That rates abroad are lower by far than express rates in the United States.

That rates to shippers of parcels from this country to France for the portion of the haul in the United States is in some instances 300 per cent higher than the domestic rates for the transportation of a like parcel between the same points and for the United States haul on a parcel which originates in France nearly 100 per cent higher than for a like haul of a domestic parcel.

That the Adams Express Company spent for the year ended June 30, 1910, $51,635, which it designated as "gratuities," but charged to operating expenses.

The following was presented as the average wages paid employes of the express companies: Agents, $7.98 per annum; cashiers and clerks, $6.40; porters and janitors, $5.67; drivers, $6.18; drivers' helpers, $4.12; stablemen, $6.75.

George C. Taylor, vice president and general manager of the Western department of the American Express Company, was placed on the stand by Attorney Walter G. Mines, and described in detail the operations of his department and the territory covered. He was questioned at length by Commissioner Lane as to the benefit that might accrue to the shipping public through the consolidation of the various express companies, but he declined to commit himself to the proposition and maintained that such consolidation would work to the injury of the weaker and smaller railroads.

It developed during Taylor's examination that the express companies divide their traffic among the various railroads according to a plan agreed upon.

The tendency of all the testimony thus far seems to be that the railroad companies get the major portion of the total and net revenue. In view of this the express companies may be compelled, notwithstanding the interrelationship between them and the proposition to solve their problems, formally complaining to the Interstate Commerce Commission against the rates charged by the railroads which, according to the figures before the commission, amount to 5 per cent of the gross revenue.

A comparison of foreign and domestic express rates was also placed in the record. A large percentage of packages carried in the United States are in the neighborhood of fifteen pounds. Special Examiner Ryan stated that up to thirty miles the rates in the United States range from 30 to 35 cents. In France the rate is 19 cents. 3 cents in Germany, and 12 cents in Great Britain.

In distances of from 25 to 50 miles in the United States the rate ranges from 30 to 55 cents, while in Germany on a 15-pound package for these distances the rate is 19 cents, in France 19 cents, and in Great Britain 22 cents.

According to other statistics presented, 49 per cent of the express revenue was obtained from small packages. The express companies received on their graduated rates $65 a ton for traffic carried; under the present rates $23 a ton, and under special rates $15.29 a ton. The total express revenue of the country was estimated at $152,000,000 per year.

Another attempt will be made, however, to re-establish the joint interstate movement. Representatives of both the miners and operators agreed to hold a later meeting for discussion of the wage problem. This meeting will be held prior to March 31, when all the present important contracts between operators and miners expire.

BIG BILL HAYWOOD RETURNS TO SCENE OF LAWRENCE FIGHT

Pregnant Woman Faces Bayonet of Brutal Militiaman.

CONFLICT AVERTED Charge Woman's Murder to Bosses' Sleuths to Discredit Workers.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Feb. 1.—William D. Haywood, Western labor leader and member of the National Executive Committee of the Socialist party, arrived here at noon today to assume the reins of leadership in the strike of 20,000 textile mill operatives, dropped when Leader Joseph J. Ettor and Arturo Giovannetti, both of New York, were jailed without bail on charges of being accessories to the killing of Anna Lopizzo, who was shot during Monday night's riot.

"It appears that jail and men cannot break the strike," said Haywood. "They cannot whip these people. The battle now is to raise funds and to direct our energies in the right channels. I am going to New York tomorrow night and will then visit some of the textile centers in New England in a search for funds, returning here next Wednesday."

Shortly after Haywood's arrival in Lawrence, the chairman of the strike committee, received a telegram from Vincent St. John, of Chicago, national secretary of the Industrial Workers of the World, directly charging that the Lopizzo woman was shot with intent by a detective employed by the mill owners to cast further discredit on the strikers. Secretary St. John's telegram bore the following message:

"The Lopizzo woman was shot by one of the horde of private detectives employed by the mill owners. There is no end to which the mill interests will not go to poison the public mind against these men who stand for them. Charge sleuths with slaying."

"Be of good cheer. We will win this fight for humanity's sake. Do not worry about the jailing of Joe Ettor. It is better to live in jail than to die in the textile mills."

A reiteration of the charge that private detectives employed by the mill owners were responsible for the bullet that killed the woman was made by S. A. Stodell, who declared he heard unknown men discussing an alleged plan to use such a method for discrediting the strikers being discussed last week in New York.

Strike Leader Yates, who took charge after Ettor and Giovannetti were jailed, issued a formal statement today, saying:

"The hope of the mill owners that by jailing Ettor and Giovannetti they had broken the backbone of the strike was futile. Massachusetts and the rest of the world should know that this strike has not even a fracture of a backbone. If the mill interests think so, so much the better for us as they will be off their guard. Even the prosecuting attorney admits privately that he cannot make a case against our leaders, and the charge against our leaders stick."

Most of the textile mills, which have been closed for two weeks, made a show of reopening today with ridiculously small forces. Some of the skilled operatives, who were not admitted by the strikers, but who remained away from work, reported back to their looms under the protection of the loaded guns of the guards and militiamen.

The strike leaders stated that they had expected the bayonet slaying of the woman, but who remained away from work, reported back to their looms under the protection of the loaded guns of the guards and militiamen.

LAWRENCE STRIKE DEPICTED IN VERSE

The poem appearing below was received in The Call office yesterday and is hardly likely to be framed and treasured by President Wood, of the Woolen Trust, or the other blood suckers who are so anxious to rob the flesh and blood of the Lawrence mill workers into golden dividends under the protecting arms of Schedule K.

SHOOT 'EM, DAMN 'EM!

What! The vermin, they're complaining. Say they want more food and clothes. Say their wages don't maintain 'em. That they're almost starved and froze. That their children keep a-crying. They're so hungry and so cold. Some are dead and others dying. Oh, say, cut it, that is old.

We're in business to make money. All there's in it we'll have, see? Oh, say, cut it, you're so funny— Dividends is what we're after. And, by hell, we'll get 'em, too. Yes, we will, though we should have to Cut their pay again in two!

Call the soldiers! Get the galling! Fill their bodies full of lead. When they hear the bullets rattling. When they're looked upon their dead. Then they'll change their minds, God damn 'em. And they'll go back to the mill. Work for less without complaining— Raise the dividends? We will!

What! They're striking, mills attacking! What! That Southern Europe scum That we brought here by the shipload. Thinking they were dead and dumb! Shoot 'em, damn 'em, they're but Hunkies— Men and women, flesh and blood. Flesh and blood—as cheap as monkeys. Cheaper! God, as cheap as mud! M. J. C.

PUBLIC TAKES UP THE BAKERS' STRIKE

The fight of the Bakers' Union against the master bakers, who are now carrying on a campaign to crush the bakers, was taken up by the workers of the East Side last night at a mass meeting at 120 Rivington street. Several speakers, who were received with great enthusiasm, told the audience of the methods employed by the bosses to crush the union. Resolutions pledging assistance to the bakers in their fight were passed at the meeting and committees were appointed to see to it that the grocery men hauld none but union label bread. Cops have been placed to guard the shops of the three bosses who are fighting the union since all the employes struck. Thus far have also been seen hanging around the bakers.

DETECTIVE HEAD IS SUSPENDED BY WALDO

Acting Captain William Delaney, in charge of the 6th District Detective Bureau, was suspended yesterday by order of Commissioner Waldo as the result of the last Monday night in the apartments of Mrs. Fannie Carter in the Benjamin Corners, 100th street and West End avenue, in which Umberto Roberts, a Porto Rican youth, was stabbed. Delaney is charged with knowing that D. C. Dwyer, a friend of Mrs. Carter, did the stabbing, and yet took no action.

WAIST MAKERS TO HOLD BALL TONIGHT

The Waist Makers' Union will hold a concert and ball at the Harlem River Casino, 127th street and Second avenue. Prominent talent will participate in the concert, which will be under the direction of the famous cellist, Vladimir Dubinsky. The proceeds of the ball will go for the strike fund, and all workers are invited to turn out to the ball and thus help swell the treasury of the union. The committee assures a jolly time to all who attend.

WOULD AGAIN TRY HARRIS AND BLANCK

Cooper Union Meeting Demands Court Seek Out Guilty Parties.

That pressure exerted by the working class upon the judiciary and legislative powers would ultimately compel these powers to respect them and force such interpretations of the law as would place human life upon a higher level than property, was the dominating tone of the meeting held at Cooper Union under the auspices of the Woman Suffrage party last evening.

The meeting, which filled the hall, was opened by the chairman, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, with a few remarks. She said that the meeting had been called by the women of New York, who were dissatisfied with the manner in which judgments are being passed in the matter of the taking of human life, especially in the case of the Triangle disaster. If the owners of the factory were not guilty, then some way must be found to punish those who are responsible for the catastrophe.

The first speaker, Ida Rauh, a lawyer, said that the study of the law creates the proper respect for the law and shows that it was intended as a protection, but she protested most emphatically against the "law and order" of business men which results in anarchy and murder, yet carries with it no punishment. She said that we have had enough of the laws which permits human beings to be exploited until they are old at twenty, which compels them to work at low wages, and then take the chance of being burned alive in the furnace of greed.

She protested against any interpretation of the law which makes it possible for a manufacturer to slay 1,000 human beings tomorrow and still be within the law. She cited the history of the Harris and Blanck case, of how the strike began among the shirtwaist makers, of the cold and poverty, of the sacrifices that were made by the strikers, of how they were arrested in the name of "law and order" and clubbed and sentenced to the workhouse, of how a delegation that had called on the Mayor found that he was not interested, and of the 40,000 returning to their factories, including the Triangle.

Then came the fire, with its locked door and pnc, and the same policemen who had previously clubbed the strikers were now carrying them away in coffins. It is farce, she said, a farce of brutality, cupidity, and "property law and property order." A law and order where life doesn't count.

Then came the trial, with its acquittal, many dead, and nobody guilty; whereby the innocent are put on the stand as it had been interpreted in this case, she said, such holocausts could occur again and nobody would be guilty, and this might continue forever. She said that the charge of the "learned business judge," which necessitated proof that the defendants knew that the door was locked, resulted in the "outrageous decision, and that it makes it impossible to convict in all future cases."

She therefore suggested that the courts be given another chance, and demanded an immediate trial of one of the remaining six indictments. If the women had the vote, said Miss Rauh, they would know what to substitute for "business judges."

MORRISON BRINGS LOAD OF DOCUMENTS

A. F. of L. Secretary Says Labor Has Nothing to Conceal.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 1.—Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, arrived here from Washington this morning with four big trunks, which were taken at once to the Federal Building and an hour later Morrison went into the Grand Jury room and gave testimony as to the defense fund that was raised for John J. McNamara. Morrison stated that it had proven a great inconvenience to get the records together and bring them here, but he was glad of the opportunity, as there was nothing which he wished to conceal.

"It will not take long to examine our records concerning the defense fund, I should judge," said Morrison, "although that matter is, of course, something for the government to determine. There are more than 4,000 entries showing receipts for the fund. The number of entries showing disbursements is not so large. Approximately $250,000 was raised, of which about $10,000 is now in my hands. The complete statement showing in detail just what money came in and how it was paid out, will be issued within a very short time. It has been delayed because of delays in complete settlements on the moving picture shows. We were preparing the statement when the subpoena directing the production of our accounts here was served, hence this will delay the statement a little longer. It will not be long before it is issued." Morrison said he had no comment to make on the indictments against

Darrow. That the government may not be through with the books and records of the federation and of the Defense Committee for a few days at least was reported at the Federal Building. It was said that in all probability the accounts would be kept here long enough to enable the government's expert examiners to go through them with a view to seeing if there was anything material as evidence.

Five additional night watchmen have been placed on duty at the Federal Building, and two have been deputized specially to look after the records of labor organizations that have been produced under subpoena. One guard is on duty all the time at the office of the District Attorney, where indictments awaiting the signature of the foreman of the Grand Jury are kept.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—Clarence S. Darrow was arraigned today before Presiding Judge Hutton of the Superior Court. Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock was fixed by the court as the time for Darrow to plead.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—Two attorneys faced Presiding Judge George H. Hutton in the Superior Court this morning, each before the jurist to defend his personal integrity. One is Clarence Darrow, the other A. A. Suggs, who faces disbarment for alleged unprofessional conduct.

Darrow must answer two felony charges, one of bribing and the other of unlawfully corrupting jurors and talemans in the McNamara trial. He waived the formality of the reading of the indictments. His attorney, Earl Rogers, objected to the sufficiency of the arraignment, on the ground that his client had not seen a transcript of the evidence. Judge Hutton ruled the objection and set Darrow morning at 10 o'clock as the hour for hearing Darrow's plea. It is contended that Darrow will plead Saturday, but ever. His attorneys will interpose usual motions in addition to a demurrer, thus delaying the hearing when Darrow must answer "guilty" or "not guilty."

A Test of Principles

Who makes the value? The Workers as PRODUCERS and CONSUMERS Combined.

The Co-operative League

Has a HAT Factory with all necessary tools of PRODUCTION.
We make the best HATS for the money.
But the workers as CONSUMERS can make all our efforts to naught if they will not buy them.
The Co-operative League HAT STORE is at 233 East 84th near Labor Temple and the Socialist Party Headquarters, and is located there to teach a Lesson in Co-operation.
It is not enough to possess the tools of production. You must use your purchasing power to make a success.

Strikers Appeal for Aid.

(Correspondence to The Call.)
LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 31.—The following appeal is being distributed by thousands throughout New England and is meeting with a hearty response:
"If you believe in humanity;
"If you believe in Brotherhood,
"If you will help us
"To gain a living wage,
"To feed our starving families,
"To clothe our starving babies,
"We have been crucified;
"We have been mocked by our Mas- ters.
"Our homes are dear to us.
"We love our babies,
"Our Mammy and dear old Pop."
The strike committee supplies these cards in bundles, costing from 25 cents to $1.

Robert Lawrence, of the State Executive Committee of the Socialist party, gives the following sketches of strike incidents:
It was the strikers' committee meeting that was in session when it happened (reports had been received that were good, bad, and indifferent, but on the whole satisfactory). He was young and good looking, well set up, a credit to his company, and yet, well, it must have been the clothes, or why those sullen looks, those whispered words? When of a sudden, in a voice tense with emotion, but as clear as a bell, he said that it has been rumored that some Harvard men are here in the militia and that Harvard men are not in sympathy with the strikers. He said he was a Harvard man, and that if the Harvard men knew of the conditions under which the laboring people are held in this city, there is no doubt as to where their sympathy would lie. Continuing, he said: "They say that the strikers are using force and that force is arms. The other side is using the force of money, which is far more violent, treacherous, and destructive; it is not only destructive to property, but to character." His first name was David and, with the light of a higher and nobler resolve, he left us. And we? We cheered!

Upon invitations we went with the committee. There were five in the family and there were expectations the rent had to go unpaid. Could the committee give them some food. Yes, they needed clothing, but if they could get the food they would try to do without the clothing for a while. Their needs were very evident. The committee promised, and hope revived.

It was a meeting in the German Hall, and it was winter. The speaker was, well, to put it mildly, "she was a peach." After describing the methods and ways, both devious and dark, by which the hearers were robbed of their queen's (taste) she wound up by saying, "I think two are double scabs, they were born scabs."

"No, sir, I am not going back under present conditions if I had to choose between thirty days in jail or thirty days in the mill, I'll take the jail. Maybe I shall have a chance to get an education here, I need it!"
Polish and Portuguese strikers have opened a relief station.
Representatives of sixteen different unions met last night at 212 East 12th street, and decided to hold a parade followed by a mass meeting at Union Square next Saturday night, in favor of the Lawrence strikers.
It was planned to have the parade begin at 3 o'clock. All present were asked to talk in their shops and factories about the strikers in order to arouse the enthusiasm of the workers in this city.
William D. Haywood will be present to address the assemblage and tell of the fight of the strikers, which has caused the capitalists to call out the militia to shoot unarmed men and women.
The strikers are to be encouraged by the work that their fellows in this city are doing in behalf of the thousands that face starvation as a result of their rebellion. Immediate action is the only resort to keep up the courage of the strikers, as they are badly in need of funds to enable them to carry on their fight. The work of securing financial aid for the workers in Lawrence has already begun, and one union has collected $22 to help them along. Appeals will be made

GET BUSY IN SEARCH OF WATCHMAN'S BODY

Widow's Bitter Protest Brings Action and Money.

Thamed by the bitter cries of the widow and daughter of Frank J. Nieder, the watchman whose dead body has been lying in the ruins of the Equitable Building, while all possible haste was made to get out the body of fireman Walsh and to save the valuable securities buried in the debris, 300 men were put to work yesterday to dig out Nieder's body.

"Dear Madam—Permit me to extend my most sincere sympathy in the great bereavement which has fallen upon you and your family as a result of the fire in our office building. Everything possible is being done to reach the remains of your husband, both by the city authorities and by this society. The work is necessarily slow, because of the great danger that there will be killed by falling debris and walls. The work will proceed as fast as a proper regard for the safety of the workers will permit. While your husband was not of our employ, I wish you to know that we appreciate the fact that he lost his life in the discharge of his duty.

Yesterday President Day made good his promise in the following note to Nieder's daughter: "Miss Anita Nieder:—Dear Madam—I have received your acknowledgement of my letter of January 29, with which I sent you $100 to cover any of your needs that were unprovided for. I now have the pleasure in advising you that the sum of $2,400, making a total of $2,500, has been appropriated for the relief of the late Frank J. Nieder's family. The method and time of pay will be determined within a few days. A sufficient sum may be paid you from this fund at once to cover your immediate needs."

MANSLAUGHTER UP TO ROAD. SHELBYVILLE, Ky., Feb. 1.—Two indictments charging the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company with involuntary manslaughter were returned by the Shelby County Grand Jury yesterday after an inquiry into the collision at Long Run, on January 29, when James Mahoney, engineer, and Thomas Jones, fireman, were killed. The men were on the engine of a Louisville and Nashville passenger train, which collided head-on with a Chesapeake and Ohio train.

How They Became "Exalted"

All of the agencies of capitalism and courts have been the most effective and hitherto the most numerous to the popular gaze. Volumes of slush and gush have been turned out for the infuencing of the young. Even school children are taught the myth of what "great noble" men have sat on the "great books" of the United States. In these books, Chief Justice Marshall and his successor, Taney, are represented as the incarnation of all that is pure and holy.

CHINESE FAMINE IS WORST KNOWN

Acting Chinese Consul Hopes Relief Fund Efforts Will Be Crowned With Success. Y. P. Shen, acting Chinese consul, has sent the following letter to William B. Millar, secretary of the China Famine Relief Fund: "Having learned from the newspapers that a committee has been appointed for China's Famine Relief Fund, I cannot but choose, as a Consul at this city, to write this to express to your committee my hearty appreciation of this noble work that your committee is going to carry out for the millions of my most unfortunate fellow countrymen in the famine stricken districts in my own country.

SOCIALIST SINGING SOCIETY LAUNCHED

The first meeting of the Socialist Singing Society of New York took place on Monday last, at the headquarters of Branch 7, Socialist party, 143 East 102d street, near Lexington avenue. At this meeting thirty members, men and women, enlisted in the chorus. In speaking of the meeting, Sol Bromberg, organizer of Branch 7, said yesterday: "The very first attempt to sing the 'Marseillaise' convinced the instructor, Max Perrin, and the participants, that this modest beginning will prove a great success and inject new life and enthusiasm into the Socialist movement of this city. To realize the full musical effect, the membership of the chorus must be increased, and all appreciating and believing in this new movement ought to join the singing society at its next meeting, to take place at the headquarters of Branch 7, Monday, February 4, at 8 p.m. The new applicants are requested to be on hand a little before that time.

CRAFT OF ALL FLAGS TO PAY $1 CANAL TOLL?

Resolutions recommending the establishment of a toll of $1 per ton on all tonnage passing through the Panama Canal were presented at the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, held yesterday by the Committee on Foreign Commerce and Revenue Laws. In the report of the committee, it is stated that the United States vessels cannot be favored in the matter of tolls without the abrogation of treaties existing with Great Britain. This canal resolution was put over by the chamber for discussion at the next meeting.

PAINTS BURN IN BOSTON SHOPS.

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—A nest of paint and carpenter shops on Old Province Court, which the firemen have regarded as the greatest menace to the business section of the city, was nearly wiped out by fire about sunrise today.

JUAREZ MUTINEERS PREPARE TO FIGHT

Cut Railroads to South of City and Post Guards.

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 1.—With the stores wrecked as completely as if a cyclone had struck them, the merchandise bedecking the persons of the mutineers or piled in their homes throughout the city, all railroads cut to the south of them to prevent troops coming from the national or state capital. The 500 mutinous soldiers who took charge of Ciudad Juarez last night and spent the night rioting and looting, are secure for the time being. During the day they elected their own officers and repaired to their barracks, drunk upon the fruits of their victory, pillaged from the saloons, their pockets laden with the goods and coin taken from the stores.

CROWD AT DEBATE TO HEAR HAYWOOD

"Big Bill" Is Coming From Lawrence to Preside at Fieldman-Goldman Clash Tonight. Word was received last night that William D. Haywood, who is now in Lawrence, Mass., aiding the textile mill strikers in their struggle for better conditions, will be present in this city tonight and will preside at the debate in Carnegie Hall between Emma Goldman, the best known exponent of anarchism in the United States, and Sol Fieldman, the well known Socialist orator. Haywood will speak for the strikers and a collection will be taken up for the cause. Haywood is an avowed and prominent part in many bitter labor wars and is well qualified to carry the message of the exploited mill workers of Lawrence to the Socialists of New York. It is expected that Carnegie Hall will be packed tonight with a crowd eager to hear Fieldman and Miss Goldman, as not in a long time has a debate been held that has aroused so much interest as this one. The question at issue will be "Direct Action versus Political Action." Miss Goldman advocating direct action and Fieldman political action. During the course of the debate the whole question of anarchism and Socialism will probably be thrashed out by the two champions of the different economic beliefs.

POLICE HALT OVER-ROOF CIGAR TRAFFIC

Two young men who hired a room on the top floor of a house at 349 East 20th street for the purpose of robbing the cigar factory of Roscoe Bros., at 353 East 20th street, were disturbed yesterday after they had taken a quantity of goods from the place, but made good their escape. The pair gained entrance to the cigar factory by way of the roof and a skylight. They then carried boxes of cigars from the roof to their room, making several trips, according to neighbors, who heard the going back and forth, became suspicious and summoned the police. When the police came, they found 100 boxes of cigars piled up in the top floor room where the young men lived. They had taken flight and retained the street by way of a fire escape.

WONT LET UNION GIVE OUT LEAFLETS

Union Trustees Refuse Machinists Right to Distribute Literature.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 31.—A special meeting of the Board of Trustees of this village was held last night to consider a communication from the Brotherhood of Machinists, which is fighting for the right to distribute their Monthly Bulletin on the public streets without molestation by the authorities. Special Organizer Armin H. Green, of New York, attended the hearing and argued vigorously in favor of an amendment to the village ordinances, which have been interpreted to prohibit handing out literature of any kind on the public streets. A letter from Robert M. Lackey, general secretary of the Brotherhood of Machinists, urging that the city ordinance prohibiting the distribution of literature be amended, saying that the ordinance was in violation of the constitutional guarantee of free press, was read before the Board of Trustees. Green and several members of the Board of Trustees held a lively debate. Some of the board contended that the brotherhood was asking for a special privilege not accorded to any one else. Green replied that he was contending for a right not denied to any one, but that the "fatherly" refusal to do anything to remedy the evident violation of the Constitution. Most of them are either directly employed or indirectly dependent upon the Remington Typewriter or the Remington arms for a livelihood. Men who don't own their jobs can't afford the luxury of connections counter to the interests of their employers.

INDICTMENTS STAND AGAINST N. Y. BANKER

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Feb. 1.—Supreme Court Justice A. S. Tidding, of Binghamton, has known his decision denying motions to dismiss three indictments returned in Broome County in March, 1911, charging Charles J. Knapp, former president of the Binghamton Trust Company, with permitting the company to do business with the trust company by the private banking firm of Knapp Bros., of Deposit and Callicoon, of which he was a member. The offenses charged are alleged to have been committed in the weeks of Knapp's resignation, the date on which the Binghamton Trust Company suspended. Knapp was tried and acquitted on a charge of criminally receiving a deposit in the private bank, knowing the firm of Knapp Bros. to be a trust company. An appeal by the defendant is now pending in connection with five other indictments growing out of offenses alleged to have been committed in the transactions between the Binghamton Trust Company and Knapp Bros. bank.

LAUNDRY WORKERS CONTINUE STRIKE

The strike of the laundry workers continued yesterday with no break in the ranks of the strikers. Committees were sent out to distribute literature from house to house, and the people patronize only those laundries that employ union labor and have granted the demands of the strikers. It was reported that 100,000 circulars containing a list of non-union and fair laundries have been printed by the conferences of central labor bodies, and committees will be sent out to distribute them all over the city. The strikers moved their headquarters to the Central Hall, 160th street and Third avenue, in the Yorkville Police Court yesterday. A girl picket was arrested while on picket duty near the Langfelder Laundry yesterday afternoon. The Literary-Dramatic Forum will hold a theater performance at 82 Orchard street at 8 o'clock tonight for the benefit of the strikers. "The Far and the Near," by Peritz Hirschbeim, will be played by members of the club. The Greenpoint strikers will hold a concert and mass meeting at the head of Lewisville Avenue, Brooklyn, at 8:15 tomorrow night.

ORDERS REDUCTION IN EXPRESS RATES

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 1.—Local express rates in Indiana were ordered reduced on an average of 15 per cent by the State Railroad Commission in a decree handed down today. Judge Wood, who wrote the opinion, believes the companies will not contest. The rates so into effect March 15. The Railroad Commission itself initiated the express rate investigation last October, when the various companies were ordered to show cause why the rates should not be reduced. The commission then called upon C. W. Farnham, express expert of the Louisville and Company, who selected the American Express Company as typical, and made a thorough investigation of the books of that concern. "Farnham's figures seem to show a enormous profit in the express business in Indiana," says Judge Wood in his opinion. "Though it is difficult to arrive at actual results, they seem to indicate very clearly that there is room for a reduction of charges, leaving ample profit for the conduct of the business."

TWENTY-NINE ARE KILLED IN STREETS

Automobiles Have Eleven Deaths to Their Credit in City and Six in New York State. Twenty-nine persons were killed by vehicles in the streets of this city last month, according to the report of the National Highway Protective Society. For January of last year the total was 27. Automobiles again head the list with 11 killed. Trolley cars caused the deaths of 10, and wagons were responsible for the killing of 8. The number of persons injured was 219. Eight chauffeurs ran away last month to avoid responsibility, as compared with only 1 a year ago. Statistics for January for New York State outside of this city show that 9 persons were killed, 6 of them by automobiles. There were 6 railroad grade crossing accidents in the State for the month, 1 automobile, 1 trolley car and 4 wagons being demolished.

DIE CUTTERS WIN COMPLETE VICTORY

Bosses Grant the Demands of the Strikers and All Returned to Work Yesterday. The striking die cutters and cutter makers, who have been out for more than a month for a shorter workday and recognition of their union, won a complete victory when the employers granted their demands and they returned to work at noon yesterday. The employers agreed to give them a forty-nine-hour week by April 1 and a forty-eight-hour week by June 1. The bosses tried hard to have the wages of the workers reduced, so as to make up for the reduction in working hours, but they finally agreed that the wages should remain as they are now. During the eight years that they have been organized, the workers have succeeded in reducing the working hours from fifty-nine to forty-eight, and though the union is small, it is the strongest in the metal industry. The strikers say that their international president, Martin Kramer, has greatly assisted them in their organization campaign and in the struggles for a shorter workday, and the victory is due largely to his aggressive methods of carrying on strikes. A ring of crooked thugs was tendered to Kramer by the strikers as an appreciation of his work. Two stockholders of one of the struck firms, who went on strike with the other workers, were elected honorary members of the union. One of the former organizers, who is now a boss, was branded as a liar by the strikers, as a result of the untruths he told about the union.

FLARE OF GAS STOVE FIRES GIRL'S CLOTHING

Fifty girls were thrown into a panic yesterday when Catherine O'Connor, a 17-year-old worker, set her clothing afire while trying to light a gas stove on the fourth floor of the candy factory of Rigney & Co., at 348 Park avenue, Brooklyn. Miss O'Connor opened the tube of the stove on which stood a chocolate board, and then waited a moment before applying a lighted match. When she did so a great flame shot up and ignited her clothing. The other girls in the room rushed for the stairway, but their flight was blocked by the foreman, who managed to reassure them and stopped the stampede. Other male workers had gone to Miss O'Connor's assistance and smothered the flames. She was burned about the face and hands and was sent to the Cumberland Street Hospital.

Hand School Notes.

Meyer London will continue the course on Labor Unions and Labor Legislation this evening at 8:15. Admission to single lectures 25 cents. The regular class in Stenography and Typewriting will be held this evening at 7:45. John Lyons is the instructor, and students may register at any time, as the instruction is given by the individual method. Inquire for terms at the office of the Hand School.
Tomorrow evening J. Ward Cramp-ton will lecture in the reading room of the Hand School on "How the Board of Education is Handling the Health Problem." Admission free.

Meeting Postponed.

Due to the midwinter examinations, the regular meeting of the Dentists' Study Chapter, I. S. S., which was to take place today, has been postponed to next Friday, February 9.

Bronx Lyceum Lectures.

The Bronx Lyceum Lecture Bureau Committee says: "At the Bronx general party meeting last week a Comrade deplored the fact that the Bronx was to have the Lyceum lecture course after the State Committee had disapproved of the Lyceum lectures. For the information of this Comrade and any others who do not read carefully, the committee wishes to call their attention to the fact that the State Committee did not disapprove of the Lyceum course, but did disapprove of the National Office requiring speakers to live up to the letter of their agreement that $300 worth of sub cards must be sold and the money in the hands of the Chicago office before the lectures begin.

"We will sell $300 worth of sub cards here in the Bronx. Of this, $420 goes to the National Office, for which they send to sub card buyers $500 worth of books and magazine and newspaper subscriptions; they furnish the speakers with all expenses paid and they send us advertising matter. A better proposition or a better course of lectures could not be asked for. Quit kicking and dig in and sell some sub cards.

"Remember, ticket holders, that there must be $300 in Chicago before Comrade Russell speaks on the night of March 1. The express ticket sales will be during the last two weeks before the lectures. Be prompt in making returns for tickets sold. Turn over your money to your branch representative on the committee, or bring the money to the committee meeting every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the Bronx Labor Lyceum, 707 Courtlandt avenue. Important matters will come up at the next Sunday morning meeting. Advertising matter will be on hand. Branches please report ticket sales."

Help Make This a Success.

A. Goldberg, downtown manager of the affair to be given by Circles 1, 3 and 4 of the Young People's Socialist Federation, makes the following appeal to members to get busy and work for the success of the celebration: "The 9th of March is soon to be with us and yet none of you have done anything to make our first anniversary a success. You must start to work at once. The most important work to be done now is to sell tickets. Come tonight to headquarters of Branch 2, 22 Rutgers street."

Notice, Branch 3.

One week from tonight Charles Edward Russell will deliver his lecture on "How We Are Gouged"—the first of the Lyceum Lecture course series, at Lenox Casino, 116th street and Lenox avenue. Comrades are urged to make haste and dispose of their tickets and report results. The 25c tickets for admission to single lectures are now on sale, and we must sell at least 500 of them. So get to work. Call for your tickets at 360 West 125th street, room 3, any night from 6 to 8 o'clock, Monday, Thursday and Saturday from 7 to 11 p.m. Or write and we will see that you get as many tickets as you require.

Frank Lectures Tonight.

The lecture this evening under the auspices of the Socialist Forum of Brownsville, at Metropolitan Saenger Hall, will be delivered by Henry Frank, and his subject is to be "What Socialism Will Do for National Government." This is the first of five lectures by Frank. Admission 10 cents.

"Socialism and Morality."

August Claessens will speak on "Socialism and Morality" this evening at Liberty Hall, 145 McKibbin street, under the auspices of the Williamsburg branch of the People's Forum of Brooklyn. This will be the last of Claessens' course of lectures based on membership. The application of Paul Tressenber was referred to the Russian Branch, Brooklyn, and the application of Jacob Meyer was laid over, as he was formerly a member of Local Richmond, Virginia.

Minutes Executive Committee.

The first meeting of the newly elected Executive Committee of Local New York was held on January 31 at the office of Local New York, 239 East 84th street. All members were present except Comrade Bryant, who was excused. Comrade Sackheim was elected chairman and Comrade R. H. Aquith permanent secretary for the committee.

The members of the Executive Committee, now in session took respect to the memory of our beloved Comrade, Alexander Jonas. A committee of three, consisting of Comrades Dr. Rubinow, Alexander Rosen and William Sackheim, was appointed to draw up resolutions, which were adopted. (The resolutions are given elsewhere in The Call). The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted as read. Fifty-three applications for membership were received and the applicants admitted to INDIANA.

John W. Block writes as follows from Evansville: "The first lecture of the National Lyceum Course by Arthur Baker was a howling success—first, in attendance; second, in the manner in which the lecture was delivered; third, in the impression the speaker made upon the audience, and fourth, the financial condition of the local. The lecture was given to an audience composed mostly of non-Socialists, who signified by their liberal applause that all points made by the speaker were thoroughly appreciated. "Comrade Baker, in his witty and entertaining style, kept the crowd interested, his being a prime necessity in getting the Socialist propaganda considered by non-Socialists. As Local Evansville is organizing into ward branches it is evident that this series of lectures will have the most beneficial effect.
