

Morgan Rules Washington

International Banker Joins Standard Oil in Coalition to Rule the U. S. and for Dictatorship Over Europe

The House of J. Pierpont Morgan and Co. rules in Washington. The Standard Oil administration is now being forced to adopt the League of Nations idea, that was the Wall Street-directed Wilson democratic administration in the 1920 elections.

The main guidance of the international bankers, headed by Morgan, the Harding administration, elected in the anti-League of Nations platform, now discover, in the words of the New York World, that "the peace order of Europe concerns the United States."

When J. Pierpont Morgan a few days ago walked into the Department of State at Washington in broad daylight, it was the outward sign of an event in the history of this country as big as its entry into the world war.

Minor explains that this event means "that J. Pierpont Morgan and Co. are preparing to move back into the White House, from which they were ousted on March 4, 1921."

"It means that Standard Oil, Guggenheim and Mellon interests who now own the White House have consented to admit Morgan into a coalition with them for the joint rule of the United States and for the financial and political dictatorship of Europe."

Minor then goes on to expound the theory of the man in the street that "Wall Street" is a single, united force consisting vaguely of "Morgan and Rockefeller." He shows that there are two financial dynasties in America, and that for the past 15 years these two dynasties have been struggling for the mastery of the United States.

He pits the House of Morgan, the official fiscal agent of the British and French governments at the beginning of the War, against the Standard Oil industrial group, predominantly producers, rather than bankers.

Minor points out that "Each of the two big financial dynasties has its own separate international corporation for foreign trade. That of the Rockefeller group is the American International Corporation. The concern of the Morgan group is the Foreign Trade Financing Company, capitalised at a hundred million dollars, and headed by Stephen D. Fier of Morgan and Co. and with Mr. Herbert Hoover, as one of its directors.

It is then declared that:

"When Mr. Morgan called on Mr. Hughes in Washington it was a visit of the head of the Morgan dynasty to the agent of the Standard Oil dynasty. It was done openly for political effect, as king visiting king to show that two kingdoms are making a treaty."

Minor then reviews the struggle of these two dynasties during the last quarter of a century, leading up to (Continued on Page Two)

Plan War on Cossack Rule

WARREN RODGERS, of the American Federation of Labor, has begun a campaign to abolish the New York state constabulary. Both the national and the state labor bodies are fighting their biggest guns on the "Cossack" organization which through its existence has been used as a strike-breaking, union-crushing, head-smashing instrument at the behest of employers.

A good deal more than the issue of the state cossacks or no state cossacks is involved in the fight the trade union organizations have undertaken in this state. The outcome will make plain just how strong organized labor is in New York and how effective or ineffective the A. F. of L. toward your friends, defeat your enemies' policy has been here.

The union labor vote, both in New York city and New York state, is so large as the leaders could control it was delivered to Governor-elect Smith and for the most part to Democratic candidates. The "nonpartisan political" strength of the unions was exerted to help elect Smith and the Democratic state ticket in return for certain promises and half-promises—including some good jobs.

The drive against the constabulary is being opened by the A. F. of L. It is an appeal which is being sent to all central bodies and affiliated unions in the state to cooperate and furnish evidence against the cossacks, and which the state federation thru a committee is preparing data to submit to Gov. Smith.

"It would seem," says the statement issued by the state federation, "that when Gov. Miller created two extra troops, his pretext was that there would immediately be needed. It is become evident that preparations were made to handle all of the game which might develop with the various coal, canal strikes, street railway and other industrial strikes."

The ordinary peace officer attempts to enforce the law with the methods used by the state constabulary and antagonistic to the law. There would immediately be the general battle instead of preserving peace. Their tactics, as proved by the strike, are to ride down in a fury of hatred and order upon some unassuming citizen or strike and beat him, thus subduing—annihilating—who there is a strike that involves workers who do not speak or under

Take the Coal Mines!

Rank and File of the Miners' Union Must Push the Issue with the Labor Party

Change in capitalist government is apparent nowhere in this country as much as in the coal-mining industry.

In spite of vast output of this fuel undergirding the nation, the industry develops catastrophic crisis in the coal situation. The industry develops speculative profits, overproduction, shortages, sky-high prices, unemployment, gunmen, spies, the murder of miners, a sullen, desperate, consuming public.

"Coal" is a favorite subject of discussion in congress. Representative Thomas D. Schall, Minnesota, only the other day delivered a lengthy oration beginning with these words:

"The coal miners have returned under exactly the same conditions as when they struck, yet with cost of production the same, the price of coal at the mines is from three to four times the price in effect at the time the strike was called."

Yet congress does nothing. It offers no relief. The mine owners themselves not only offer no relief, they combat measures for the orderly production of coal, they were periodic warfare against the miners' union, that alone seeks a solution of the coal problem.

Christ J. Golden, president, District 9, United Mine Workers of America, has just offered a plan for the nationalization of the hard and soft coal mines of the country as prepared by the National Research Committee of the miners' union, that says:

"Any plan must not only provide a decent American standard of living to the worker, but must satisfy his desire for a vote in the management."

The miners are trying to work out a "Plumb Plan" for the coal industry. With their strong industrial union they should make more rapid progress than the divided workers on the railroad.

It is rather comical, however, to read this report declaring that: "The American worker has no use for the thing called 'State Socialism,' adding: "To have a group of politicians at Washington manage out would be as distasteful to the miner as it would be to the non-suffering people.

Yet the miners seem trouble when they demand a "political labor party," showing that it is not politicians at Washington, but the FIND OF POLITICIANS, admitting that, "until labor is adequately represented in voting strength, government cannot be expected to do anything for the workers."

Colorado Cossacks Quit!

William Z. Foster, secretary of the Trade Union Educational League, departed from Colorado and Wyoming, was the speaker at a big comb-hat staged at Denver, Colo., Sunday. Foster took his own story in a telegram to the Civil Liberties Union as follows:

By WILLIAM Z. FOSTER

"Meeting big success. Unmolested by city or state police. Affair great victory for free speech. State Senators realizing approaching disintegration almost destroyed by wholesale resignations. Humcock resigned last Thursday in face of our marching. Denver branch of Trade Union Educational League extends Civil Liberties Union thanks for active assistance."

"World-capital attempted to counter the situation by the defensive of the west and the offensive in the East. In the West great wage concessions were made to the workers. Shorter working hours and social reforms were introduced. But at the same time we saw the commencement of intervention against Russia."

"Soviet Russia passed from the defensive to the offensive in the West because the Italian workers taking possession of the factories. Unfortunately the offensive broke down and the capitalist offensive set in."

Labor Demonsstrates on Eve of Communist Trial in Berrien County, Mich.

(Special to The Worker)

NILES, Mich.—Berrien County citizens held a public demonstration under the auspices of the Federated Shop Crafters, in the local Opera House to protest against the prosecution of William Z. Foster and his co-defendants. The trial of Miners, arrested for alleged violation of the Michigan Criminal Statute, was set for Jan. 16 in the court house at St. Joseph.

The sponsors of the mass meeting were Eugene J. Thoms, of Berrien County, and William Z. Foster, chairman of the Michigan Trades Union Educational League. (Continued on Page Four)

Amalgamation and the Labor Party

The two big issues before the workers of the United States today are "Amalgamation" and "The Labor Party." These issues are the two main points of contention between the Federation of the Workers Party. They will be discussed in one forum or another at every forthcoming gathering of labor.

The workers should be informed, in the future as in the past, as to all the developments in its struggle for "Amalgamation" for "The Labor Party."

In order to do this it seeks the co-operation of all its readers. Send in the news of all developments, local, state or national for publication in YOUR PAPER. Make your articles short—shorter than 200 words, and write legibly.

Three prizes will be given each week for the best material submitted. These prizes will be appropriate books, and will be announced each week. Your articles will be submitted to, and their prize winners selected by a committee of three to consist of William Z. Foster, Editor, THE WORKER, Room 403, 379 Broadway, New York.

The Party and Industrial Work

By WILLIAM Z. FOSTER

With the adoption of the report on and the recommendations for industrial activity by the Second National Convention the Workers Party of America has passed the first hurdle on the road to the conquest of the factories.

The report and recommendations, with the discussion that preceded, showed that the broad masses on which the party's position is based have crystallized their action. No part of the convention proceedings was more (Continued on Page Three)

Conquer Russia! Mass Meeting! Under the Auspices of the National Labor Alliance for Trade Relations with and Recognition of Soviet Russia. Lexington Theatre Sunday, Jan. 7, 8:15 P.M. 514 S. and Lexington Ave. Wash. News

Democratize Russia

Recognition for Soviet Russia will be demanded at a monster mass meeting by New York's leading labor union, January 7, at the Lexington Theatre, 51st St. and Lexington Ave. The alignment of speakers is one of the most impressive lists ever assembled on a single platform in recent years, consisting of Bobby Field Malone, Sidney Hillman, Capt. Paxton Mahan, Frank P. Walsh, and Jerome T. De Hunt in the chair.

A similar meeting in Boston some weeks ago filled one of the biggest halls in the city and thousands had to be turned away. It was in Chicago there took place recently a huge gathering to demand the immediate recognition by America of the Soviet Republic. In view of the prominent speakers and the purpose of the meeting, it is expected that Lexington Theatre will be the scene of a great demonstration by New York workers.

The meeting has been arranged under the auspices of the National Labor Alliance for Trade Relations with and Recognition of Russia, and is headed by an influential committee including such prominent New Yorkers as Harry Berlin, Fred J. Ed. Dress, and J. Budish, of the Union; Heywood Horn, Author and Critic; A. Brownstein, Mgr. J. J. D. Parson, Union; J. Budish, Editor, "The Nation"; Philip G. Greber, Exec. Sec. of the Workers' Circle; B. W. Hochsch, "The Worker"; Abraham Lefkowitz, "The Teachers' Union"; Kenneth Newman, Dramatic Critic; Jack Melman, Cigar Maker Union 133; J. S. Potosky, Asst. Com. of the C. I. O.; Folsky; Samorodski; Rose Schneiderman; and Theresa Wolfson of the Union Health Committee.

Three of the speakers have only recently returned from Soviet Russia and will speak directly from personal knowledge of the situation there. They are Sidney Hillman, President of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America; Frank P. Walsh, the prominent attorney, and Capt. Paxton Mahan of the Russian Red Cross; Dudley Field Malone has spent two years in Europe and knows from personal study what Russia really means to the world.

The rehabilitation of the whole continent, James H. Maurer is the President of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor.

Recognition of Russia is becoming a more important national problem every day, as the realization gains ground that there is no escape from the economic chaos of the world without Russia's cooperation. On the other hand, the workers in all countries realize that the Workers' Republic must have the right to speak the end of the virtual blockade involved in non-recognition.

Tickets sell at 25 cents and may be bought at the following points: Room 406, 110 W. 40th St. (Phone Penn 1228); Room 14, W. 12th St., Forward, 175 E. Broadway; The Rand School, 140 St. A. C. W. N. Y. Joint Board, 31 Union Square; N. Y. Joint Board, A. C. W. A., 621 Broadway.

What You Get in "The Worker"

The New York Times is having a very exciting time advertising the speech of Nikolai Lenin on Soviet Russia's "New Economic Policy." It says that this speech is "revealed to the world for the first time" in its monthly, "Current History Magazine." We do not begrudge the editors of "Current History" a good thing when they see it, but this announcement by Lenin was published in full in "THE WORKER" several weeks before it was announced for the "Current History Magazine." So, if you want to know what is going on in Soviet Russia, or any other part of the world, read "THE WORKER," where you will get it first.

"Liebknecht Issue" of THE WORKER Next Week

In commemoration of the martyrdom of Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg THE WORKER will devote next week, starting Jan. 20, to discussing the significance of Liebknecht's work in behalf of the revolutionary movement. Liebknecht and Luxemburg were murdered in January, 1919, by the application of the uprising of the working masses, led by the valiant Spartacists.

THE PROGRESS OF SCIENCE

On the progress of science, the most important thing is that it is being used to the benefit of the masses. The progress of science is not just a matter of knowledge, but of the application of that knowledge to the betterment of the human condition.

Morgan Rules!

their present coalition, declaring that "they do not yet condescend to tell what they are going to do with the United States, but it is what they are going to do to pledge the concept lives of the American male population to guarantee a loan of a billion and a half or two billion dollars from the Morgan Banking circle and the Rockefeller, Guggenheim and Mellon banks to the German government. The project has the purpose of saving Morgan's investments in Europe. But it has a further and vaster ambition—the attempt to establish the financial and political rule of Morgan, Rockefeller, Guggenheim and Mellon over Europe, with the American Army and Navy as their police."

In the meantime George Harvey, United States ambassador to London, has come home, while William Randolph Hearst rants thru his sheet against Harding going over to the House of Morgan and cursing the adventurer Harvey. Hearst claims that it was the trickster, Harvey, that sat in on the 2 a. m. conference in Chicago that agreed on the nomination of Harding. Harvey sat in as the agent of the Morgan clique, and Minor draws the conclusion that "perhaps, after all, Harvey was the go-between of Standard Oil and Morgan and had up his sleeve all the time this impending coalition plots the crushing of the Russian revolution and the coincident with the return of Harvey we are told that Montague Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, who is soon going to the United States with the British Delegation Mission, was in this country last spring, and discussed with President Harding and several government officials and financiers the question of the financial situation in Europe. This information is given us, authoritatively we may be sure, by the New York Times.

During his stay here Mr. Norman saw, in addition to the President, Secretary Hoover and Secretary Mellon, representatives respectively of the Morgan and the Standard Oil groups. Mr. Norman also conferred with J. P. Morgan and other bankers in New York City.

Thus American capitalism musters its forces in an effort to save, if it can, the crumbling capitalist social structure in Europe. This effort will inevitably lead to new war against Russia.

Workers of America! Will you stand idly by while American capitalism plots the crushing of the Russian revolution and the shaking of world labor to its greed for profits.

Workers of America! Smash this effort to drive you into new and bloodier wars. Demand the recognition of the Russian Soviet Republic. Demand the opening of trade relations with Soviet Russia. Demand that loans and credits be extended to the Workers' Republic, that alone has the program to save mankind and the will to carry it out.

Workers of America! Stand by the workers of Western Europe! Stand by the workers of Russia! When you do that, you will be standing by yourselves and your own interests in this country!

Progress Towards Amalgamation

Growing out of the general movement for the amalgamation of the Needle Trades Unions comes the proposal for a convention of the five dominant unions in the Needle Trades industry to devise ways and means of closer affiliation.

The call for a convention, accompanied by a tentative draft of a constitution has been sent out by the General Executive Board of the United Cloth Hat and Cap Makers of North America. The Union to whom the call has been sent are: The Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the International Ladies' Garment Workers, the International Fur Workers and Journeymen Tailors.

The definite proposal made in the convention call is for a needle trades alliance, branches of which would be formed in all localities where the five unions operate. Among the membership of the five unions, however, there is a growing sentiment for actual amalgamation in one Needle Trades Union and already there is a National Amalgamation Committee of the Trades Union Educational League carrying on the work for one joint union in the clothing industry.

If the five organizations summoned agree to a joint convention, representative of the membership, there is little doubt that only technical difficulties will stand in the way of amalgamation. The needle trades workers are the most intelligent organizing group in the American labor movement; they accept the idea of industrial unionism and have only the problem of overcoming the inertia of officialdom to solve. Organized for intelligent action they will rapidly solve this problem and one union, the Amalgamated, is already officially on record for one union in the industry.

Alien Registration—For Whom?

By WILLIAM F. DUNNE
Let there be no doubt that in one respect at least, despite the insurgent spirit disclosed by the recent elections, the Harding administration is going right ahead with its program.

The propaganda campaign for the registration of aliens is being pushed with redoubled vigor. The administration propagandists, alien registration is a necessary part of the government's program.

As usual, the sons of Mary England are in the vanguard of those who are availing themselves of the opportunity to make a survey of them and ascertain the undesirable ones. Mr. Burns of the department of justice tells me that such a survey would disclose about 15,000 who would be eligible to be sent back to the land where they came from. I don't go as high as Mr. Burns, but I think that close to 70,000 persons have slipped surreptitiously into the United States.

The linking up of the aliens with the revolutionary movement by the propaganda is one thing, to give the campaign a patriotic tinge, the real purpose behind the demand for a registration of aliens is the terrorizing of foreign-born workers so that they will be afraid to take part in the revolutionary movement.

The stopping of emigration has seriously depleted the reserve stock of unskilled labor upon which the capitalists relied to keep down wages so the aliens must be prevented from participating in the organizations of the wage-earners by a system of registration that would place them at the mercy of the capitalist and agents.

Nothing has been said so far about the registration of citizens but as a matter of fact the proposed plan cannot be carried out successfully without a nation-wide registration of citizens and aliens alike. All would have to carry passports for identification so the army of secret service agents which the plan necessitates could distinguish between them.

What is really proposed is a general system of registration that will facilitate the blacklisting of militant workers now practiced to some extent by every large corporation.

Here then is a real issue on which radical, conservative, citizen and alien workers can fight shoulder to shoulder. It is a matter that demands the attention of every section of the labor movement of the United States and no time should be lost in getting into action.

To all the Left Elements of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers:
 The Shop Delegates League is calling upon you to attend the meeting of the League being held Saturday morning, 11 o'clock, at 47 Clayville Street. Various questions are discussed. Italians, Lithuanians, Russians and other nationalities, that have not been represented in past meetings, are urged to attend. Amalgamated Shop Delegates League, National Committee of the Trade Union Educational League, Victor Forman, Sec.

Section, Trade Union Educational League

It is now two months since the progressive element in the needle trade union. The main reason for this is the lack of power which has in organization—a gigantic power, if only it is held with that of the other workers.

There even seemed at one time to be a sort of loose banding together of the needle trade unions. The main reason for this was the lack of power which has in organization—a gigantic power, if only it is held with that of the other workers.

The price which the workers pay for such a thing is the loss of their independence. They are forced to do what the executives say, and they are forced to do it without any voice in the matter.

They understood all these things and they did not do anything about it. It pays them to be silent. It pays them to be silent. It pays them to be silent. It pays them to be silent.

To take this condition in the needle trade union and to consider the necessity of abolishing this system of division, the necessity of creating one, powerful, big organization to support the call for all other industries, a call for a conference, toward this goal, through the united work of the Trade Union Educational League.

From what has already been said in this article, we can understand what the aims of this Needle Section are. It has, of course, the same aims and purposes as other national sections of the Trade Union Educational League.

To show by a well worked-out plan how to carry out the system of amalgamation in actual practice. To point out in a plan to weld together the various local and national sections in one city and of the same trade into one local, and to carry on propaganda for the Shop Delegates System.

By LOUIE ENGBALL

We are told by The New York Times, in its best "law and order" spirit, that the Pennsylvania Constabulary, is on the move to suppress the "outbreaks and disorders in the Coke Regions" of the Conestogville district in Fayette County.

Our readers have been fully informed about the heroic struggle of the 10,000 striking members of the United Mine Workers, coal miners who were organized before the recent strike.

Now the New York Times promises us a reign of terror by the Pennsylvania Constabulary under the guise of "taking in hand the social and industrial unrest that is seething thru the Conestogville Coke regions."

Unrest at Paterson, N. J.

The silk profiteers of the industrial hell that appears on the map of the United States at "Paterson, N. J.," are, worrying because the "prestige of Paterson as a silk market is threatened with destruction because of unrest among the workers."

So they talked it out, the "representative citizens" of this American kaiserdom, at a little gathering the other day. They were joined by the "Banker Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, in Harding's cabinet at Washington. The department of labor is propagating its own campaign for "eliminating industrial strife."

"Let us put a little more Christian brotherhood in business," pleaded Davis, addressing the silk bosses, who have shown in past struggles, that they possessed all the labor-crushing qualities of Rockefeller in Colorado, the low cunning of the coal barons in Virginia, and the brutal ruthlessness of the textile mill owners in North Carolina.

We take it that all these gracious sentiments are but an echo of new organization strength, displayed by the workers in the silk industry. Instead of bettering the working conditions in an invested capital of $3,000,000. But there is the great human element, the 25,000 silk workers who go down to the mills to slave and wear out their lives creating great profits for the millionaires and a handful of slaves.

The gathering that was chaired by Harding's special emissary, showed that the money invested in silk is rallying its strength to you that where the workers get good wages—the business man profits.
